CILLY VERSUS

I rose and gave her my seat; I could not let her stand - She made me think of my mother, with that strap held in her hand.

Between the dark and the daylight, when the night is beginning to lower,
Little paws, black from day's occupations, make what is known as the 'childrens' scour!'

Hush little snowflake, don't you cry;
You'll be a dewdrop next July!

He never does swear, and he never does smoke.
He drinks nothing stronger than milk or a coke.
He does not drive carelessly, nor run a red light,
Nor live it up staying out late every night.
He does not kiss girls when he goes out on a date.
At six he's so innocent, but just wait 'til he's eight.

Why is our country in such a state? Our disagreements are loud and hearty,
But once in a while we get it straight - the trouble is the other party!

Folks find fault with the editors, and say they should be shot;
That the pages are as peppy as a cemetery lot.
They say he shows poor judgment; the jokes, they say, are stale;
On upper floors they holler, on lower floors they wail.
But when the paper's issued (we say it with a smile),
If someone doesn't get one, you can hear him yell a mile!

I cannot sing the old songs that memories gently bring.
I cannot sing the old songs - because I cannot sing.

Of all who like to blow their horns, the dedicated are
The small tots left alone in the front seat of the car.

The teacher, trying hard to help a lad she thought was dense,
Explained to him 'ferment' was like 'to work' in verbal sense.
"Now use the word correctly in a sentence," teacher said,
And shortly, crayoned on the blackboard, this was what she read:
"If only I could have my way, I'd promptly make a rule
That children were to play all day and not 'ferment' in school.

Remember this maxim - In life's rugged pull,
You can't hit the bull's-eye by 'shooting the bull'.

We say 'I think' ten times a day or fifteen times or twenty
And even more. Well, anyway we sure repeat it plenty.
But pause and ponder half a wink and start your brain-cell clicking;
'I think' we say, but do we 'think' or only 'think' we're 'thinking'?

POLITICS

How oft before election we who vote are 'loved to death'
By candidates for office with their honey-laden breath.
They pat us on the vertebrae and shake our hands with glee,
And tell us that our baby 'is as cute as he can be'.
'Tis 'Hello, Bob,' and 'Howdy, Jim,' and 'How's the little wife,'
'Til we feel sure these cordial chaps are close-up friends for life.
But what a jolt we're in for when it's past election day;
These loving, smiling candidates ignore us right away.
They quite forget we're 'Bob' and 'Jim'; we get a stony stare,
And babe and wife can go to grass for all they seem to care.
How powerless becomes the ballot's power you will note,
To hold as friends the candidates who beg us for our vote.
