Quality Heat

is important to the Dillons
...they pay for it for 110 families!

Ed Dillon and his son, Larry, operate four large apartment complexes in East Wenatchee. They offer one-, two-, three- and a few four-bedroom apartments—modern and desirable in every respect—at modest rentals from $115 to $200.

All of the Dillon apartments are heated with natural gas, and all have gas-fired hot water. The more recently built ones also have beautiful gas kitchens.

The "clunker" and a highly popular one with Dillon tenants is . . . the Dillons pay the gas bill.

"We couldn't possibly do it," they freely admit, "at our low-scale rentals if we were heating with electricity. This way our tenants can have all the heat they want. They don't have to worry about the bill; we pay it. They get well-circulated warmth, subject to individual thermostat control, but they know in advance what their housing cost will be each month."

Quality Heat makes the big difference at Dillon apartments. Vacancies are rare. There's nearly always a waiting list.
