power to grow / PROFIT IDEAS FOR PROGRESSIVE FARMERS

Where needed, a dollar of zinc can return up to ten dollars in crops.

For Zinc-Starved Soils we recommend Elephant Brand Zinc M-N-S

COMMON SYMPTOMS

Corn ■ Broad bands of white or yellow leaf tissue. Found between midrib and edge of leaf along its lower half. ■ Plants have short joints or internodes. ■ Stunted plants ■ Reduced yields.

Other crops ■ Small leaves ■ Narrow, thickened leaves ■ Leaves drop or dry up early ■ Bushy, stunted growth ■ Yellow foliage, or light green ■ Reduced yields.

COMMON CAUSES

Liming ■ Acid soil releases zinc easier. So zinc deficiency may show up after a field is limed, where it hadn't shown up before.

Topsoil removed by land leveling, terracing or erosion ■ Zinc tends to accumulate near the surface; removing the topsoil takes away the zinc.

Soil compaction ■ According to Nebraska tests, zinc deficiencies may be caused by tight, compacted soils.

Cool, wet soil ■ Under these conditions, zinc availability is reduced.

Phosphate fertilizer ■ The more phosphate in the soil, the more chance of zinc starvation.

Nitrogen fertilizer ■ By causing plants to grow faster, more zinc needs to be available.

WE RECOMMEND ELEPHANT BRAND ZINC M-N-S (15% zinc)

■ Because it is easily absorbed by the plant and goes to work fast. ■ Because it is granular and just as easy to apply as other dry fertilizer materials—broadcast or through the planter. ■ Because it contains other plant nutrients along with zinc—nutrients such as nitrogen, sulphur, manganese. These nutrients help the zinc go to work fast, along with helping enrich the soil. ■ Because it is priced right.

DON'T GUESS—TEST

■ Leaf analysis tests will show if zinc is needed.

■ We are ready to help you get the proper tests and to follow through with application service if needed.

■ Removing zinc hunger has stepped up yields of corn, wheat, soybeans, sorghum, sugar beets and many other crops. So don't guess... test!
