INTRODUCING THE REV. ARTHUR COATS, NEW PASTOR OF THE Nyssa Conservative Baptist church; his wife, Virginia; daughter, Vicki and son, David. Vicki is 15 and will be a NHS sophomore, while David will be in the seventh grade this fall and is 12 years old. - Staff Photo.

Church Has New Minister; Couple Plans Kindergarten

The beginning of the ministry of the Rev. Arthur Coats, as pastor of the Nyssa Conservative Baptist church will be marked Sunday afternoon, June 13 with a special installation service. Baptist pastors from Caldwell, Payette, Weiser and Ontario will participate.

The installation rites will begin at 2:30 p.m. in the trailer chapel, located at Locust and N. 4th St. Pastor Medford Roland of Weiser, will lead the singing. Pastors Walden Askrin and C. J. Cording of Caldwell and Payette, respectively, will present messages of challenge to the church and the pastor.

A special installation prayer will be offered by Pastor Larry Faught of Malheur Butte. He and his wife will also sing a vocal duet. Other special music will include a local church trio, Vicki Coats, Janine and Christine Meyer.

Following the service, women of the church will serve light refreshments on the lawn, with Mrs. Harlan Meyer and Mrs. Clarence Page in charge of arrangements.

Pastor Coats began preaching in Nyssa on June 15. The family moved from Southwestern Montana. They are temporarily located at 669 N. 7th St. while the church is making arrangements for the purchase of a home located at 815 King Ave. The Coats family includes the pastor's wife, Virginia; Vicki, 15; and David, 12.

Pastor Coats holds a diploma in Bible from Multnomah School of the Bible in Portland, a BS degree in English from Lewis and Clark college in Portland and a MS degree in education from Western Montana college in Dillon.

For the past two years he taught English and social studies in the public school at Willow Creek, Mont. During that time he also served as supply preacher and interim pastor in various churches.

COW HOLLOW
 BY GLENDA BARNES

HELLO WORLD!

COW HOLLOW - Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morton attended the recent 50-year class reunion in Ontario. Morton was a member of the class of 1926.

LaVerne Widmer visited June 25 with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Widmer. He returned the following day to Boise where he is stationed with the National Guard.

Previously the Rev. Coats pastored the First Baptist church in Dillon for seven years and the Immanuel Baptist church in Lewistown, Mont., for four and one-half years.

In addition to work of the church, the Coats couple plans to conduct a kindergarten in their home. Mrs. Coats has had extensive experience as a substitute teacher and teacher's aid on the elementary level. She has also taught piano.

In commenting on their impression of the Nyssa area Pastor Coats said, "We have found so many things about the community that we really appreciate. The people have been so friendly. The summer band program has been a great help to our children. We thank God for the privilege of serving here."

A spokesman for the Nyssa Conservative Baptist church said that while special invitations have been sent to other Conservative Baptist churches in Oregon and Idaho, members of the church here will be glad to have local visitors present for the installation service.

AGE-OLD AND OLD AGE IDEAS

Mr. J. C. Penney, one of the most venerated of American entrepreneurs, spoke on courage and creativity in business. He said that the qualities of courage are three: a willingness to stick your neck out, to be an innovator, and to make changes in order to be progressive. To his way of thinking, innovation marked the difference between the mature executive who is on top of his job as compared with the immature executive whose job is on top of him. Too many of our old-line executives today are simply slaves by routine. In the same vein, a noted psychologist pointed out that, "The mere fact that something has been done the same way for 20 years is often a sign it is being done wrong."

The new, mature, responsible type of businessman has created multi-product companies capable of great saving to the consumer through their "economy of size." All this innovation has obviously scared the pants off the old-line business establishment.

The concern in Washington is not as a result of mergers or even the combining of large businesses, but the threat that the business establishment feels to its age-old, and oldage methods of doing business.

Mr. Penney is also quoted as saying that, "Rain or shine, some people go about their jobs the same way every day of the week... with never a single new idea to contribute to their company... then they sometimes wonder why younger, 'less-talented' men (or so they seem to think) go sailing past them into positions higher up the executive ladder. The reason may well have been that the 'less-talented' men had a few suggestions now and then that helped cut costs, increase profits, improve efficiency, facilitate distribution, or otherwise enable the company to enlarge its scope of operations."

So, age has nothing to do with creativity, innovation, and growth - it's all in how you use the tools.

OWYHEE COMMUNITY CHURCH

The Rev. and Mrs. R. G. Chandler, missionaries from Japan, who are well-known in this area, will be at Owyhee Community church on July 13 to give talks and acquaint the congregation with work they are doing in Japan. They will speak to the Young People's group at 7 p.m. and again during the adult study and evening service at 8 o'clock. Area residents are invited to attend these sessions.

The Rev. and Mrs. Moxom, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Haney went to Donnelly Sunday afternoon, July 6, to attend a fellowship dinner and meeting. They returned home in time for the evening service but reported that traffic was heavy and the trip took longer than usual.

Barbara, Roger and Joyce Haney sang a special song for the July 6 morning service. Harriet Lorensen presented a saxophone solo for the evening service.

John Phelps, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Phelps, is planning to leave soon to attend Bible college.

Mrs. Moxom was substitute teacher for Mrs. Dail's class Sunday, July 6, when the Dails were visiting their daughter and husband in La Grande.

HONOR STUDENTS

Margaret L. (Lorraine) Wilson is among nine per cent of the total students listed on the 1969 spring-term honor roll at the University of Oregon in Eugene, according to a U of O news release. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Wilson of Nyssa.

Of the 13,867 students enrolled at the U of O, 1,263 received honor grades.

This represents an increase of four percent over the spring term roll of 1966. In that year, five percent of all students earned the honor grades, or 567 out of a 10,963 total.

Perfect GPA's of 4.0, or all 'A' grades, were made by 227 students.

The honor roll list includes all undergraduate students who receive grade point averages of 3.50 or higher and taking at least 12 credit hours. GPA's are based on a grading system that equates 'A' with 4.0; 'B', 3.0; 'C', 2.0; and 'D', 1.0.

Officials at Brigham Young university in Provo, Utah, have announced the names of three Nyssa students who achieved academic honors for the 1969 spring semester.

They are Lina Flake, a junior; Jay Rulon Garner, sophomore; and Susan S. Roberts, a senior.

High honor students are those who have achieved a 3.5, or over, grade point average in all academic work during the semester. (4.0 is straight 'A').

BYU, with 23,959 students, is the largest church-related university in the United States, and the largest private university from the standpoint of full-time students, according to the release.

They come from every state in the nation and 70 foreign countries. The university offers associate, bachelors, masters, and doctors degrees in 60 departments of 13 colleges and graduate school.

With a better than 3.5 grade point average, Leila Jean Baker of Nyssa was named to the dean's list of 1969 spring term honor students at Eastern Oregon college in La Grande.

According to Dr. Lyle H. Johnson, dean of students, there were 123 students who received 3.5 or higher averages to earn places on the scholastic honor roll. Of these, 23 students had perfect grade scores.

WITNESSES PLAN ANNUAL MEETING

Payette congregation of Jehovah's witnesses will attend the annual convention with over 40,000 other Witnesses July 13-20 in Vancouver, B. C., according to Charles Dodge, presiding minister.

The Vancouver assembly is one of twenty-five scheduled throughout the principal cities in the world during 1969. Bible talks, demonstrations and full-costume Bible dramas will be featured throughout the eight-day program. The assembly will be climaxed with a public talk, "The Approaching Peace of a Thousand Years," delivered by F. W. Franz, vice-president of the Watch Tower Society.

ELECTRICITY COSTS SO LITTLE... YET DOES SO MUCH

Electricity costs 25% less per kilowatt-hour than it did 25 years ago... and Idaho Power electric rates are 19% less than the national average! That Snake River Valley families recognize the value is plain to see. You are using about 51% more electricity than the national average! Thus a low price and high use go hand in hand to provide an enviable standard of electrical living.

What else do you buy today that costs a quarter less than 25 years ago? You can use electricity freely for a multitude of labor-saving tasks because it's the best bargain in the family budget.
