LIBRARY BOOKS AVAILABLE IN AROCK-ROME VICINITY

AROCK - With lower Malheur County getting the lion's share of rain this summer, some mothers are probably having trouble finding enough inside things for their children to do. Try reading books! Even in the Arock-Rome area, books of all kinds are available.

There is an extension of the Malheur County library in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Easterday in Rome. Mrs. Easterday had the library in her home since February 1965. It first got started in Rome by Mrs. Richard Becker how began ordering books from the Malheur County library in Ontario for her own family.

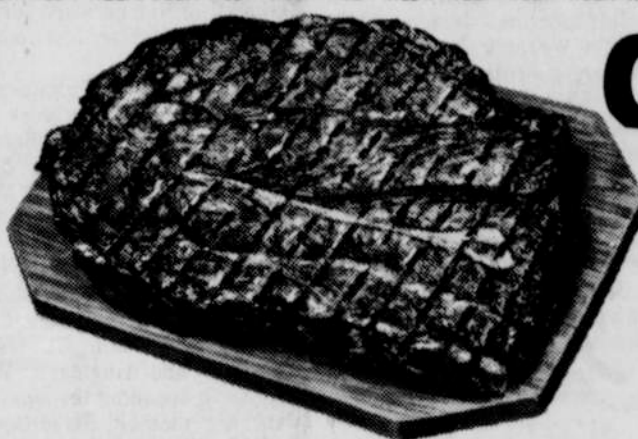

As neighbors found out about it they began to borrow her books and she began to order more. About that time the Arock home economics club had a community improvement project going and decided to help broaden the library so that the entire community could use it. When Mrs. Becker left, she turned over her library duties to Mrs. Easterday. Many different types of books are available. Mostly westerns are checked out in this area. Although many children and junior books are available, not many are checked out. Mrs. Easterday gets a new group of volumes about every four months so a variety of children's and adult's books are on hand. - Charlotte Elwood.
