School Custodians Honored

Custodians of School District #26 were honored guests of the Nyssa Education Association members at a recent watermelon feed.

Dale Schraufnagel, president of the local teachers' organization, expressed appreciation of the group for the tremendous job done by head custodian Del Maggard and his staff of men preparing the five buildings for the opening of school.

Following this introduction, each custodian was presented a cake by a woman of the faculty.

During the summer months the men cleaned, waxed and polished 185,000 square feet of floor space. In addition to regular cleaning, six new ceilings were tiled, considerable woodwork painted, desks sanded, floor tile laid in three rooms, roofs checked, thousands of feet of eaves painted, light fixtures cleaned and light globes replaced in all buildings on the campus.

The staff also irrigates and mows 20 acres of lawns surrounding the various structures. A total of 30 acres of land is owned by the school district.

All plumbing repairs, changes and additions are done by the custodial staff. Summer work included the extension of pipes and installation of a new sink in the canteen in order to meet sanitation standards.

During the school year, the custodial staff washes over 600 towels daily from the shower rooms.

In the newer buildings, not including the elementary and Arcadia plants, there are 123 toilets, 66 wash basins and a large number of drinking fountains to keep clean and in working order.

There are also 49 motors to keep oiled and in operation, as well as, six gas boilers and two gas furnaces.

While the tons of dirt swept from halls and classrooms during a school year have never been measured, it must be an impressive amount brought in by some 1350 pair of feet from roads, playground and streets.

In addition to daily care and summer refinishing of floors, halls are also scrubbed and re-waxed during Christmas and spring vacations. — NHS Reporter.

power to grow / PROFIT IDEAS FOR PROGRESSIVE FARMERS

IS FALL FERTILIZING IN THE CARDS FOR YOU?

Would you be better off to spread fertilizer this fall or wait until next spring? It all depends on your particular situation. There is no pat answer that fits every farmer, every grower. Here are factors for and against fall fertilizing that you can apply to your own crop land:

NO

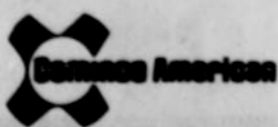

- My land would erode if I spread fertilizer and plowed or disced it in this fall.
- I have coarse, sandy soil that leaches badly.
- I have poorly drained land and water often stands on it.
- My finances would favor waiting until next spring.

YES

- I'll have no problem getting the spreading equipment over the fields this fall.
- I'll have less spring work pile-up if fertilizer is spread this fall ahead of fall plowing or discing.
- By getting my crops planted earlier next spring, yields should go up.
- I'll have less soil compaction to hold yields back; the ground is usually drier in the fall. And spring thaws usually loosen it up again.
- I get better spreading service in the fall.
- There are better supplies of fertilizer in the fall.
- Phosphorus, potassium, sulphur, zinc and boron almost always produce better crops when applied in the fall and worked in.
- Soil test results come back faster in the fall.
- I could apply the expense of fall applied fertilizer against my tax return this year.
