IDAHO POWER OFFERS EDUCATIONAL FILM

Idaho Power reminded educators Wednesday that a color and sound slide presentation explaining the generation and delivery of electricity again is available this year for showing in the schools of its service area.

Teachers may arrange to obtain the 22-minute presentation, titled "Your Power System... And How It Works," through their local Idaho Power office.

Showings of the presentation, produced early this year, will be scheduled on a first-come, first-serve basis.

The non-technical presentation, tells the story of energy generation and delivery in relation to the area economy.

It was audience-tested before school teachers prior to its release.

The presentation is intended to be an audio-visual supplement to science courses at the junior high and high school level, but also is suitable for use in general instruction.

Though primarily designed for school showings, the presentation can be adapted to meetings of service clubs and other groups.

Home From Hospital

Mrs. Ruth Williams left Saturday morning, Sept. 20 by plane to return to her home in Westminster, Calif., after spending three weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Batt.

Mr. Batt was released Sunday from Caldwell Memorial hospital where he had undergone major surgery on Sept. 11. He is reported to be recovering nicely.
