Veteran's Day

Tuesday, November 11, is Veterans Day, a day when patriotic citizens throughout the United States salute the men and women who have served their country in the Armed Forces, and who have given something of themselves in the preservation and extension of American freedoms.

Nyssans have always taken patriotism very seriously, and this has been demonstrated most admirably by the results of the flag sale undertaken by the Lions Club during the last year. The first effort was a complete sell-out, and most of the flags on a second order have been sold. As a result we expect to see several hundred homes displaying the colors on Veteran's Day.

The Nyssa Junior Chamber of Commerce has also performed a great service to this community by their efforts in putting out the flags on Main Street on patriotic holidays.

The Oregon Commander of the American Legion, Loren L. Kuske, this week issued a statement on Veteran's Day, and ended it with these words:

"Show your colors, show your allegiance, offer your prayers for your country and for those who helped to make it free, and for those who yet today offer themselves to help keep it free."
