

MURRAY - SKOW EXCHANGE VOWS IN ROSWELL WEDDING

Theresa Marie Murry and Ronald Cleve Skow were married recently in Roswell, Idaho. The ceremony was preformed Dec. 20, 1969 in the Sterry Memorial Presbyterian Church by the Reverend Raymond Wilson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Murry of Parma, Idaho. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Skow of Parma.

The bride wore a long white satin gown trimmed down both side fronts with lace borders. Her train was bordered with the same lace. Her shoulder length veil had a crown of white roses and pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of white mums and red poinsettias accented with white bells and red balls.

Connie Jo Murray, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a sleeveless, long gown of red brocade trimmed with silver down the center front and around the neck. She carried a bouquet of white mums and red poinsettias.

Bridesmaids were Sandra Kay Murray, sister of the bride, and Krista Lee Skow, sister of the groom. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the maid of honor. Flower girls were Kimberly Ann Skow, sister of the groom and Renee Marie Caldwell, cousin of the bride. The ring bearer was Terry Wilson, cousin of the bride. Jim Peterson was best man. Ushers were Mike Murray, brother of the bride and Kenneth Pfeifer. Mrs. Don Roberts was organist at the wedding.

A reception was held in the basement of the church following the wedding. Close friends of the bride's mother served and helped in the kitchen. The wedding cake was made by Mrs.

I read a news article the other day which explained how a pusher of heroin in Iran was given a military trial and then shot. That evening I saw an in depth comment in the news on TV. This news report told us that we run around flapping our arms about the increase of the use of drugs and just about every state has abolished capital punishment. The pusher or dealer is essential to the drug trade, and they are in the increase because they know full well that if they're caught nothing much will happen to them.

Our courts are so tender hearted in the field of crime that punishment is becoming a thing of the past. I'll bet that everybody who honestly believes that the assassins of Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King will be adequately punished can hold a national convention in a phone booth. In fact the killer of Kennedy is now demanding his rights. In just about any other country he would have already received his "rights."

We in the United States have sort of gotten our minds all twisted. Today when a crime is committed the police who were called to settle the trouble are investigated and the general public is placed on trial.

When Martin Luther King was assassinated we had those people who were prompt to cry to the world that the United States was a sick nation. The same thing was said when Robert Kennedy was shot. Actually all that the U.S. can be accused of is having our insane among us the same as any other nation.

The Black Panthers has as their slogan "Kill The Pigs". They will admit this, but now say it was not to be taken literally. Nuts, they didn't have that arsenal for the purpose to play patty cake. But the police who cleaned them out are being investigated.

Somebody somewhere is trying to kill the spirit of this nation by hanging a guilt complex on all of us and I, for one, refuse to accept the blame for the actions of a few radical malcontents. The Negro has for years gotten the bum rap in some sections, but the actions of some radicals are not improving their chances of being accepted as equal citizens in all communities.
