

Some Openings For New Students Remain In Oregon Colleges

Have you put off the decision about entering college this fall? About transferring to another school? There is still time—but not much.

Some 3,600 opening still remain in Oregon colleges and universities for late-deciding freshmen and 11th hour transfer students, according to a June survey conducted by the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE).

According to the WICHE study, application deadlines for the fall semester range from July 15 to October 2 at 21 Oregon higher education institutions.

College officials point out, however, that vacancies are open only to students who meet the individual college's entrance requirements. And if a student has already applied to a college or university and has been turned down, he should not reapply.

Warner Pacific College, Portland, Sept. 1; Willamette University (no freshmen women), Salem, Sept. 1. Vacancies for "transfer students" only at Lewis and Clark College, Portland, Aug. 1. Vacancies for "freshmen" only at Portland State University, July 15.

Details on vacancies in colleges and universities throughout the 13 western states are available from: College Vacancy Survey, WICHE, P. O. Drawer P, Boulder, Colo. 80302.

WICHE is a public agency which helps the 13 western states work together to increase educational opportunities for western youth, to improve programs of universities and colleges, to expand the supply of specialized manpower, and to inform the public of higher education needs.

SUNRIVER NAMES AIRPORT MANAGER

Douglas C. Donalson has joined Sunriver as manager of the Sunriver Airport, announced Donald V. McCallum, president of this resort/recreational community 15 miles south of Bend.

Donalson, a veteran of 30 years of military service, was a lieutenant colonel at McCord Air Force Base, Tacoma, before retiring last year.

The WICHE study, which canvassed 375 undergraduate institutions throughout the 13 western states, reports that approximately 41,000 vacancies are still available for entering freshmen and transfer students. A total of 243 western institutions responded to the survey, with 201 reporting vacancies for come-lately applicants.

The following TWO-YEAR COLLEGES in Oregon have openings for "commuting freshmen" only: Chemeketa Community College, Salem, deadline Sept. 20; Clackamas Community College, Oregon City, Sept. 28; Lane Community College, Eugene, Oct. 2; Linn Benton Community College, Albany, Sept. 28; Mt. Hood Community College, Gresham, Sept. 15; Portland Community College, Oct. 2; Southwestern Oregon Community College, Coos Bay, Sept. 28; Umpqua Community College, Roseburg, Sept. 18. Vacancies for both "commuting and dormitory freshmen" at Oregon Technical Institute, Klamath Falls, Sept. 1, and Treasure Valley Community College, Ontario, Sept. 22.

The following FOUR-YEAR UNIVERSITIES have openings for "freshmen and transfer students", who either commute or live on campus: Eastern Oregon College, La Grande, deadline Aug. 15; Linfield College, McMinnville (no dormitory for freshmen men), Aug. 15; Marylhurst College, Marylhurst (women only) Aug. 15; Oregon State University, Corvallis, Aug. 15; Pacific University, Forest Grove, Aug. 15; University of Oregon, Eugene, Aug. 15; University of Portland, Aug. 1;

Sunriver Airport has a 4,500 foot, paved, lighted runway, fuel service and tie-down facilities. It is handling an ever-increasing amount of air traffic, which includes Sunriver residents and resort guests, as well as recreational activities such as gliding.

Donalson had been air liaison officer for the Civil Air Patrol in Washington, and prior to that was chief of combat operations for the division of operational control, the Republic of Korea air force and USAF, in Korea. From 1962 to 1966, he was based at Portland, as air force advisor to the Oregon Air National Guard, and for four years prior to that was a pilot and squadron operations officer for a F100 fighter wing in France and Germany.

Born and raised in San Marcos, Texas, Douglas was among the B-17 pilots who first flew bombing missions into Germany in World War II. He flew 28 missions, and survived having one engine shot out three times and two engines shot out twice. He also flew 50 missions during the Korean War as a forward air controller in an AT-6. He's married and has two sons, one of them now in the air force in Viet Nam.

which has been feeding this eight-year old, 40-foot tall burner will be used in other products. Plant was acquired by G-P in 1967. Burners of this type have been on the wood products scene since the 1860's.

Cooperative Houses Cut College Costs At OSU

Cooperative housing, a way of life for economy-minded students at Oregon State University for more than 30 years, will be expanded with a $414,000 federal grant to a private Corvallis corporation, Co-Resident Women, Inc.

The grant will permit construction of a 100-student cooperative house, expected to be completed by the fall 1971. In the "co-op" houses, students cooperate in doing the various jobs—meal preparation, food purchasing, cleaning and other housework. Each student is expected to work from three to six hours a week. Cooperative housing costs about $20 per month less as a result than most other housing.

More than 600 students live in the cooperative house, sharing not only the work but the benefits of group living experience. In addition to the three houses operated by Co-Resident Women, two houses for men are independently operated, and three women's and four men's cooperatives are operated by the university.

Each living group has a university-approved housemother or head resident and all are united under the Inter-Cooperative Council. Cooperative housing has proved popular with many students and waiting lists of applicants are the rule most years.

The 30-year, 3 per cent, $414,000 loan was granted under the college low-cost housing program. Two years ago, a $75,000 loan was received—the first granted to a private cooperative—to convert a former private hospital into a cooperative residence for 43 women. Oregon State is believed to have one of the most extensive cooperative housing programs in the nation. New and returning students who are interested in applying for cooperative housing should write the OSU Department of Housing. A few vacancies still remain for men for 1970-71.

TB CARE ADEQUATE IN HOME

The hospital stays of tuberculosis patients can be reduced drastically by medication at home.

Doctor Grace G. Eddison recently conducted a three-year research project in tuberculosis home care at the Van Etten Hospital in the Bronx, New York. Her conclusions are encouraging.

Some patients with active tuberculosis could be sent home after approximately a week of hospitalization. Medication could be administered in the home.

The cost of home care treatment can be dramatically less than in the hospital. Patients at home are no more contagious than those in the hospital.

Patients and their families were educated to aspects of the disease and its medication. Frequent checkups by the research team insured that home medication was regular, for as long as necessary.

The program, which strongly emphasized individual attention, brought interesting results. Dr. Eddison dealt with patients afflicted with severe psychosocial, economic, educational and vocational problems. As their condition improved, such patients replaced their hopelessness with feelings of well-being and self-confidence.

Socially delinquent behavior and inability to use money dropped significantly in the home care patients (while it rose slightly in a similar group in the hospital).

A higher percentage of home care patients returned to work than those in the hospital for the same period. For more information, contact your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. It's a matter of life and breath.

Hatfield Says Dissent Not License For Violence

Senator Mark O. Hatfield told the 50th anniversary meeting of the Oregon Fire Chief's Association in Portland Saturday night that the "right to dissent is not a license for violence, subversion or revolution."

Hatfield said that in his talks on college campuses he has "tried to build bridges of communication with the younger generation", and has warned the students about the grave dangers and consequences of violence.

He said that it is "clearly a small minority of revolutionaries across our country today who have created a massive counter-reaction throughout society."

"Because this polarization has dramatically deepened, we are on the verge of being at war with one another," he said. "The greater danger of our time is that the trend to polarization will continue," he said.

Hatfield pointed out that "the Communist leaders in Moscow and Peking as well as revolutionaries in this country must take great delight in seeing the right wing of our society fighting the left wing in the streets."

"There are few who get more satisfaction out of this trend than the people who would like to undo us," he said.

"Here in Oregon the constructive efforts of the many young people involved in the campaign for the 19-year-old vote were overthrown by the irresponsible actions of people using violence for their own ends," Hatfield said.

"The revolutionaries in this country know that if the voting age is lowered, this will siphon off the 95 percent of the young who want to work for change within the system," Hatfield said.

Hatfield said that "those who want to destroy our society know it can be done from within, and that it can be accomplished by dividing us as a people, by turning father against son, worker against student, and old against young."

A SAFETY MESSAGE

from Dodge's TV "Sheriff" JOE HIGGINS

Funny how some folks can be polite, courteous ladies 'n' gentlemen until they get behind the wheel of an automobile.

Somethin' seems to come over 'em and you can almost see the devil horns 'n' fangs poppin' outta their heads.

Never could understand how some folks can come out of church on Sunday then get all red-faced, honkin' horns, cussin', and cuttin' other folks off gettin' outta the church parkin' lot.

Don't get all riled up and churnin' inside if you're cut off or the fella up ahead is a little slow. If you're in bumper-to-bumper traffic, it don't hurt none to let the fella waitin' on the side street into the traffic flow.

The Golden Rule is mighty old but it ain't never gonna be outta style—treat other folks like you like to be treated, yo'self. You'll feel better for it—somethin' like havin' the Christmas feelin' all year 'round.

A polite driver is a safe driver.
Ya'll drive careful now, heah!
