It's almost time to think about HEAT again. But why not have Gas Air Conditioning with it?

YOU MAY HAVE HALF THE SYSTEM NOW!

People who heat their homes with natural gas know how pleasant it can be to have healthful, air-circulated, easily-controlled warmth throughout the winter. Why not also enjoy the advantages of another service natural gas performs best—cooling? Better still, why not enjoy a combination gas cooling-heating system? Families who already have whole-house year-round gas air conditioning are enthusiastic about its many advantages, not the least of which is its comparatively economical operating cost. Now first costs are lower, too. And the equipment is greatly improved. The intense blue flame of natural gas activates compact units that have fewer moving parts than flameless models. That means fewer chances for mechanical interruptions; a better guarantee of trouble-free operation. Your present heating system may constitute half of a cooling-heating unit. But even if it doesn't, conversions are practical, desirable and economically feasible. Cascade's air conditioning specialists will gladly discuss every angle of an installation to meet your particular needs. No obligation.
