

Nyssa Nurse Praises TVCC

The job that I hold at Malheur Memorial Hospital would have been impossible to get if I hadn't been able to go to Treasure Valley Community College where I completed the one year practical nurse course. In addition I took a pharmacology course there.

If I had had the opportunity I would have taken a registered nurse program, but the nearest place for that kind of training is Boise where my daughter Pauline went to school.

Another daughter, Jennifer, could be considered a charter member of Treasure Valley Community College for she completed one year and two months of secretarial courses when the college first opened. She worked four years in the Pentagon as a secretary while her husband was in the service. She now lives in Payette and recently worked as a secretary at Ore-Ida.

Max, a son, completed two years at Treasure Valley and one at Oregon State University before going into the service and another daughter, Joann attended classes for half a year. All of this would have not been possible due to expense if the college wasn't here in Malheur County.

Mrs. Serena Stephen, Nyssa

Herb Sez ...

Well, we got through 1970 without everybody dying from poisoned food and all the other attendant horrors that were called to our attention during the last 12 months.

This coming year let's try to find something good about the world in general and the United States in particular. Sure we have a pollution problem, I'll not deny it, but let's not get into such a flap that we fall entirely to see the myriad of beauties around us. It may be true that a lot of contaminants go into Lake Superior, but the shore line West of Marquette, Michigan has many state parks, and the water washing up on the beaches is crystal clear and not murky with sewage as I was lead to believe. These beaches look just like any nice beach in hundreds of other places.

Through Montana, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas and Oklahoma we drove through hundreds of miles of beautiful forests. We drove through the center of Ohio, going from North to South, and with the exception of Cincinnati on the freeway we saw nothing but blue sky with a few white clouds. Remember Ohio is the 5th most populated state in the Union. From all news reports I expected to see a continual smog throughout the state.

I may have been lucky in my visit to New York, but the 4 days I was there the visibility was unlimited. I wonder if people aren't counting just the bad days. Why we're so prone to forget the good and harp on the bad has me beaten.

As far as Boise Valley is concerned I'll bet a pollution gage in the 30's would read higher than it does today. Then just about everyone used coal for heat. Do you remember what a mess trains made of downtown Pocatello and Nampa?

In 1971 I hope the various Federal Agencies will wait until they really find something wrong with foods and just about everything else before they scare hell out of the public.

1970 can't help but be a success if we all look on the bright side just a little more. I know you can, so HAPPY NEW YEAR.

DAIRY PRINCESS

COUNTDOWN STARTS

The countdown has started for 14 young ladies from across the state who are competing for the title of Oregon Dairy Princess.

Coronation of the 1971 Dairy Princess will be held at a noon luncheon Monday, Jan. 11 at the Sheraton Motor Inn. The ceremony will culminate a three-day industry meeting of the Oregon Dairywomen's Association, Oregon Dairy Wives and the Oregon Dairy Council.

The contest is sponsored by the Oregon Dairy Products Commission.

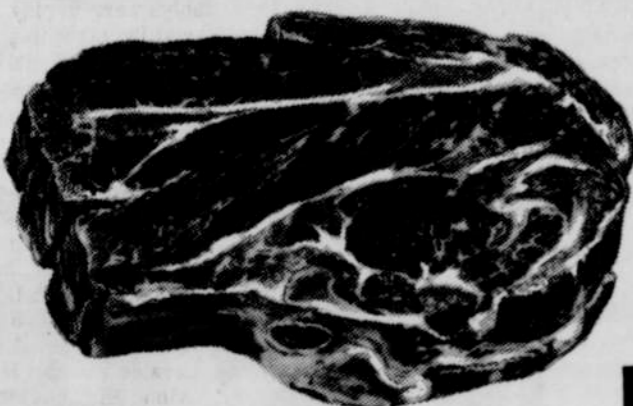

Commission Executive Secretary Ray Kozak said the 14 princess candidates, each a holder of a county or area title, will gather for the event Saturday, Jan. 9. Speeches for the event are scheduled at a Sunday banquet, Jan. 10.

Winner of the event becomes a part-time employee of the Oregon Dairy Products Commission and receives a salary and travel expenses to cover promotional activities on behalf of the Oregon dairy industry.

In addition, the titleholder receives a $400 scholarship from First National Bank of Oregon, a fashion scholarship and will represent Oregon in the national American Dairy Princess contest next June.

Valerie Anne Turner, Vale, is the Malheur County candidate.
