Herb Sez ...

Have you found a letter in your mail inviting you to take out some form of insurance lately? If you haven't something must be wrong, like your mail isn't coming through. You could make money betting on the days an insurance letter will be in your box.

This nation of ours is a very healthy country regardless of smog etc. It is also a very accident prone nation automobile wise. Everybody is trying to get into the health act and auto insurance is higher than a cat's back in a yard full of dogs. The insurance companies are smart cookies they know that the country is filling up with old people and the obituary columns consist mainly of people over 75 years of age. The health tab past 65 is lifted by uncle US so that's also a good bet. Modern medicine and medical practices have made it rather difficult to die of anything but old age and car accidents. Health insurance is a good bet for the companies. Those between 60 and 65 who want health insurance must consider that they're a bum bet because their rates are higher than a flagpole sitters lap.

To be safe a person's got to insure against everything or run the risk of losing his shirt. If you don't have liability insurance and some one busts his prat on your front porch you may find yourself out of business. It pays to look at the fine print to make sure that to collect you don't have to break your leg at 4:30 when stuck in an elevator between the 75th and 76th floors of the Empire

State Building. I pay more for insurance per year than I used to make in a year.

The insurance companies are crying about losing great quantities of dough but fail to mention that the only place they're losing is in our accidents. Otherwise they're losing so much they only own all the large buildings in the United States. Nobody knows how much else they own but the tallest buildings in every city are hard to hide. Riots took a big bite of their profits so they no longer insure in riot prone areas. I realize they lose money in some areas BUT I can't think of any business that doesn't lose somewhere. It looks like they don't have to bear down quite so heavy.

try a little KINDNESS

Do unto others—particularly in the baby sitting department. If friends are planning a night out and you are home—offer to look after their kids.

Are you handy with tools and repairs? Offer to help a neighbor who isn't.

Help ease sound pollution—use your automobile horn only when really necessary.

For a free button that says, "try a little kindness," send your name and address to Corporate Services Dept., Clair, 345 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022.
