Herb Sez ...

My grandfather was a wonderful man. I knew him only as an old man with grey hair and a white walrus moustache. I loved that moustache. Every morning, without fail, he would take over the bathroom for a certain ritual which we would probably term as partaking of a hot toddy. He told me one time that, "a hot toddy is good for colds and numerous other ailments. It's a most wonderful cureall. But why wait till you're sick to partake of such a delightful potion? An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." He made his hot toddy with a little sugar and plenty of lemon juice. After imbibing he would come out and sit in the front room. It was then that I often snuggled into his lap for a few moments because no doubt he had the best smelling moustache in Palo Alto County Iowa. To this day when I think of lemon I can, in memory, smell that wonderful hirsute adornment. For years lemons were used for a beverage then they were used in cosmetics. Every secret hand lotion or cold cream had lemon juice as the mysterious ingredient. I remember one company had a lemon and coconut oil shampoo. Lemons were still used mainly for food. But today, that's another kettle of fish.

I didn't realize just how valuable the lemon really is. Do you know that if you want a furniture polish that will take off all other polishes you must have one with lemon juice in it? When women go out shopping they smell the polish and enthuse about the lemony smell. It is now necessary to have lemon flavor in the washing powders. Many of our perfumes, hairtonics, bathpowders and salts have as the principle ingredient the lowly lemon. This beautiful lemon odor is just being discovered, commercially. I discovered it years ago on my grandfather's moustache. I like the smell of wax shoe polish. I wonder if sometime in the future we will be surrounded by the odor of caruba wax.

FIRE CALLS!

Nyssa Volunteer Firemen answered a belated call Monday evening at the Oscar Bratton farm. A cow barn was completely destroyed and beyond saving by the time the firemen arrived. It was reported that a young girl was the only one at home at the time and first called the Ontario Fire Department, and then the Adrian Fire Department before calling the Nyssa Firemen. They are not sure what caused the fire.

CANNING FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Homemakers should plan to add 2 teaspoons of lemon juice or vinegar to each quart of tomatoes or tomato juice which they can this summer, says Helen Conner, Malheur County Extension Home Economist. Many varieties of tomatoes are now lower in acid and cannot be safely canned in boiling water bath unless the lemon juice or vinegar is added. The more dangerous types of food spoilage organisms will not grow in an acid product. In addition to safety, many homemakers actually find that the lemon juice enhances the flavor of the tomatoes.

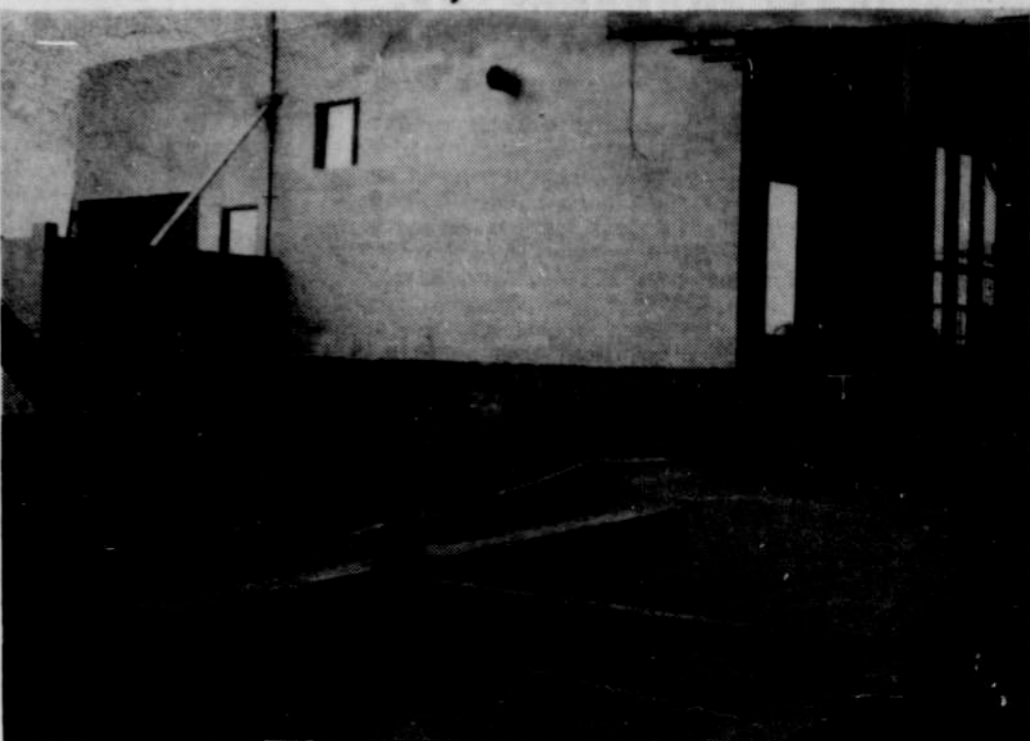

Soil and growing conditions, in addition to variety, influence the acidity of the tomato, so it is wise to add lemon to all varieties. When onion or pepper is added to the tomatoes, as in stewed tomatoes, the product must be processed in a pressure cooker to be safe.

All vegetables and meats must be processed in a pressure cooker in order to reach the high temperatures required to kill organisms which may produce dangerous toxins, including botulism and other food spoilage.

Fruits may be safely processed in boiling water bath and may be packed in the jars, hot or cold.

Open kettle canning is not recommended for any product other than jams and jellies. Even when great care is taken, spoilage bacteria may get in when the food is transferred from kettle to jar. Information on processing times for fruits and vegetables is available in the bulletin, "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables", available free from all County Extension Offices.

Treasure Valley Growers Warehouse

The New Treasure Valley Growers warehouse is taking shape, with the office section shown in this picture. Built on the old foundation, the new concrete block building will soon be ready to receive the fall produce. Holcomb Construction Company, Nyssa, is the prime contractor; and Robert L. Hon, Masonry contractor, Ontario, is doing the block work. The eight-foot wide double tee floor beams are furnished by Oregon Concrete Company. They are 50 feet long in the main building, and are constructed of pre-stressed concrete and require no center supports.

Freezing Fruits And Vegetables

Blanching in boiling water is recommended for nearly all types of vegetables before they are frozen, according to Helen Conner, Malheur County Extension Home Economist. After the vegetables are blanched, they should be cooled quickly in ice water and put in the freezer immediately. Blanching is necessary because enzymes in the vegetables make the product continue to ripen slowly, even in the freezer. This can result in an over mature product after it's been stored in the freezer for a period of time. The enzymes, however, are quickly killed in boiling water, so the product will not continue to mature after blanching. Some varieties of vegetables and fruits have been developed especially for freezing. A complete list of these, as well as suggested blanching times for vegetables, is available at the Malheur County Extension Office in Ontario.

Most fruits may be successfully frozen. Homemakers may choose fruits without sugar, in a sugar syrup, or with granulated sugar added. Some fruits, such as peaches and apples, are best if ascorbic acid or vitamin C is added to prevent the frozen fruit from darkening. With all frozen products, it is best to freeze only a few packages at a time and spread them out so cold air can circulate around each package, Mrs. Conner said. Large amounts of food piled all together in the freezer may take several days to freeze completely and can result in a poor quality or even spoiled products.

WORK SMARTER - NOT HARDER

Those magnetized designs used to attach items to metal surfaces can provide some happy experiences for the small fry if placed within their reach on the refrigerator door. However, the designs should be large enough that a small child cannot put them in his mouth. Call the design what it represents and you help build the child's vocabulary. For example, if it represents fruit, call it by its name. The young child can also learn the word magnet, that it will only work on metal and that only one side is magnetized. Mrs. Leonard Howes returned home from a visit with her son, Roger Howes in Oakland, Calif., and her children in Roy, Utah Saturday evening. Craig and Kurt Wilson accompanied her home for a short visit. Mr. and Mrs. Ted Avery attended the Robinette picnic at Eagle Valley Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Witty and Carl went camping at Steen's Mountain with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McCracken, Joseph McCracken and Phyllis McCracken. There were four generations on the outing. Gayle Clucas spent three days last week with Mrs. Genevieve Sutton in Caldwell. Mrs. Dyre Roberts spent Friday with her sister, Mrs. Burton Blades in the Caldwell
