Boy Asks For Free Buffalo

Congressman Al Ullman tried to round up a spare buffalo from the federal government for a youngster from Dufur Monday but said he didn't think he was going to have much luck.

Pat Welp, an eighth-grader living on a farm near The Dalles, wrote Ullman saying he had heard one could obtain a buffalo free from the government.

"We have the cows, horses, pigs, rabbits and chickens on our farm," Pat wrote. "I heard you can get a buffalo free from the government. I would appreciate any information you could give me on how or where I could get one."

Ullman immediately had aides get in touch with the Department of the Interior, but officials there told Ullman they have been deluged with requests recently for free buffalo. One Interior official said he had even had a request for a stuffed bison.

Ullman said he assured Interior officials the buffalo would be excellently cared for, and they indicated they would see what might be done to get Pat, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Welp, a healthy buffalo.

In the past, Ullman said, the Interior Department has occasionally given a buffalo free to tax supported institutions such as zoos and wildlife parks.
