Snowmobile Race Open To Amateurs

Oregon snowmobilers have a chance to become television "stars" as well as money winners at this year's Kings Castle $50,000 Snowmobile Classic race at North Lake Tahoe, Nevada, February 25-27.

The races, now in their third year, will be filmed by ABC for telecast on "Wide World of Sports" in March or April. Entries in the 10 classes for men and women are welcomed from amateurs as well as professional drivers. Entry forms and information are available from Kings Castle Resort Hotel at Incline Village, North Lake Tahoe, Nevada.

Last year Oregon was represented by only six out of the nearly 300 competitors, and two were among the top winners. Linda Wagner of Portland took second in two women's races and Ron Dorsey of Medford placed fourth in the 650 cc A Main class.

Top prizes in the 1972 Snowmobile Classic, the richest in the nation, are $5,000 for first place in each of two top modified classes. In all, 17 of the prize awards are for more than $1,000. Stock class prize money ranges from $400 to $1,500 and A Main stock money is $200 per class.

The event is sanctioned by the Western Snowmobile Association and will run according to their rules. A celebrity race will feature such famous racing car drivers as Parnelli Jones, the Unser Brothers, and Mario Andretti.
