

Harry L. Peterson, Ontario businessman, accepts a letter of thanks from the TVCC Foundation for his gift of $5,000 for student assistance. Standing is Tom Pence, Foundation Board Chairman.

The terms of the gift require that the money be used to assist scholar athletes, and that the fund should not be depleted in fewer than five years. Several students are in TVCC this year as a result of an earlier scholarship gift from Mr. Peterson.

Applications Accepted For 4-H Summer School

Applications to attend the 1972 4-H Summer School at Oregon State University are in the mail this week to Malheur county 4-H members, according to Holly Johnson, Malheur Extension Home Economist.

"We care..." is the theme of the 57th annual event on the OSU campus in Corvallis which is expected to attract nearly 1,800 young people. Malheur county will be able to send up to 47 members to Summer school.

During the five days on the OSU campus, the young people will participate in classes, tours and discussions aimed at introducing them to various careers and to college life, explains Lois Redman, OSU extension 4-H and youth specialist.

The delegates will also participate in a series of assemblies featuring outstanding speakers. The Summer School delegates will live in OSU residence halls.

Additional application blanks for Summer School are available at the Malheur County Extension Office for 4-H members who do not receive them by mail. Miss Johnson said.

All 4-H members who were 13 before January 1 are eligible to attend with the exception of those who have already gone three times.

Applications are to be returned by April 28, 1972 to the county extension office. Selection of the county delegation will be made soon after that date by the 4-H Leaders Executive Council.

Many organizations in Malheur county have made scholarships available to help 4-H members meet the costs of the week.

Paper On Snake

Mario Delisio, geologist and archaeologist at Boise State College, is delivering a paper entitled "The Snake River of Southwest Idaho: A Storehouse of Pre-History and a Study in Cultural Ecology Threatened by Dam Construction" at the Northwest Archaeology Conference in Portland.

Delisio spent eight weeks last summer working on the topic of his paper for the Idaho Water Resources Board making an archaeological inventory of all sites within the 35-mile pool area of the proposed Swan Falls and Guffy Dam project.

Essentially, the study was conducted between Grandview and Melba.

In eight weeks Delisio and others on the project uncovered 104 sites of archaeological importance. "This is one of the highest concentrations of such sites in Idaho," Delisio stated. Three studies were done in this area last summer, Delisio said. One was an archaeological inventory, the second was the bird of prey study, and the third was an archaeological survey. Of the archaeological survey Delisio said this area of Idaho is a key area "very important to the pre-history of western America."
