Class Reunion Big In Nyssa

Class reunions were the big thing in Nyssa last weekend and they really are big, because they set the stage for renewal of friendships that time and distance can't dim.

There is a bond among those who grew up together, and attended school together, that is different than almost any other association. Those young people who have just completed school won't recognize this for awhile, but it will become evident later. And we venture a guess that those 33 who attended the class of 1962 reunion had almost as much fun as those from the early 30's.

There is always lots of kidding about those whose waistband is considerably bigger, and whose hair is thinner or grayer than when they were high school seniors, but underneath the good natured joshing is the close bond developed in the early years of living, working and playing together.

We experienced this last November when we attended the Tigard High School class of 1935 reunion. It was the first reunion of our class, and the first time that some of us had seen each other in those 36 years. And yet, after we got past the "guess who" and "how you've changed" part, it was just as if those 36 years had not elapsed.

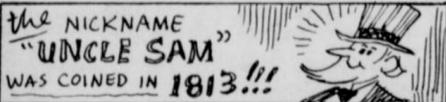

Our party started about 6 p.m., and with all the reminiscing and telling each other about our kids, our jobs, our towns, and lying a little, it was soon 2 a.m. and we finally broke up from sheer exhaustion.

We expect these reunions last weekend were much the same, and in spite of the more sophisticated cynics, an important part of home-town memorabilia. It's a part of life that many from the big cities never experience, and it's their loss.

People came from many places to re-unite with long-time friends, and it speaks well for the school and town that this affection still exists. There is a certain quality here that those who returned recognize, and that those of us still here appreciate. And that quality is not so much the distant hills or the fertile fields, but the people themselves.

The students in those classes of 1929 to 1933 were the children of the great depression. Most of them were poor and yet they plodded to school, helped their folks at home, grew up and had fun, and in most cases were too busy to realize how hard up they really were. Now they are prosperous and have raised their own families, and they returned to the land of their youth.

We think reunions are important. We are glad that these people came back for theirs. We enjoyed visiting with some of them. And we hope that most of them can return when their next class reunion rolls around.

OUT OF THE PAST

10 YEARS AGO

The new parish house for St. Bridget's Catholic Church will be blessed by His Excellency, Most Rev. Francis P. Leipzig, D.D., on Tuesday, August 7, at 1 p.m., according to Father John Baumgartner of the Nyssa church.

Following the blessing of the rectory, there will be a dinner for Bishop Leipzig and the more than 24 priests who have signified their intentions of being present.

Attendance nearly doubled during the past week when 66 "would-be swimmers" reported for the first adult women's class Tuesday evening at Nyssa municipal pool.

20 YEARS AGO

Malheur County's polio cases were numbered as 15 Thursday morning, an increase of four over the number reported last Thursday morning.

Malheur County's all-out support of the March of Dimes bore fruit this week in rapid service to supply additional equipment for the Malheur Memorial Hospital to care for polio patients.

The equipment was ordered through the Oregon unit of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis Tuesday and by 10 o'clock Wednesday morning the unit was at the Nyssa hospital. It was flown here from Portland by an Army plane.

30 YEARS AGO

The American Legion of Nyssa is accepting donations of phonograph records for men in the armed services. The records may be left at the Nyssa Pharmacy.

New records will be sent direct to the troops and U.S.O. clubs, but the old will be melted and made into new records. The "big name" bands and artists of the United States will contribute their talents to the making of the new records.

President Roosevelt told his press conference he is considering asking Congress for more effective controls to keep down the cost of living, including wage control. The national situation as regards the cost of living must be kept in line, he said. The one criterion that must be kept in mind is what it costs the average family to live.

40 YEARS AGO

Extending their route to include Notus, Parma, Nyssa, Ontario, Payette and Weiser, the I.O.N. Motor Stages will bring a new bus service to Nyssa effective Monday. Three schedules will run through here daily.

The cars are attractive red buses and are radio equipped. The new loop is an extension of the I.O.M. Stages, which last month inaugurated daily stage service over the I.O.N. highway from Boise to Jordan Valley and McDermitt. The service has met with outstanding success in the valley. For the first time since the days of the Wells-Fargo Express, Jordan Valley has a stage service. To show their appreciation, citizens of the McDermitt section recently contributed several hundred dollars which will be added to the $1000 appropriation made by the county court for repair of the McDermitt end of the road.

J.M. Lyon of McDermitt has offered to bring the county caterpillar and large blade to Blue Mountain Pass where a short stretch of road will be built which will provide an all year around route.

50 YEARS AGO

The Commercial Club this week received a consignment of descriptive folders from Rider Bros. of Baker, containing a corrected road map which correctly indicates Nyssa as being on the main graveled highway from Caldwell, instead of locating us out among the sagebrush without any road connections to speak of, as did the official map issued by the Oregon Information Bureau. The folder also contains a page write-up of the town of Nyssa, together with a picture of the bridge spanning Snake River to the east of town. The commercial club took this means of minimizing the injury to this section caused by the error in the official road map.

The big tank containing the city water supply has been thoroughly cleaned out and Nyssa people can use the water with the full assurance that it is uncontaminated by any filth. The work of cleaning the tank was done by Cecil Green and Wayne Fogle, who climbed over the tank over 100 feet high as unconsciously as though they were on the ground. They reported that the tank was comparatively clean, only a little moss and scum having accumulated.

Old Stone House Being Readied For Pioneer Picnic

The Old Stone House in Vale is the scene of much activity these days as many volunteers, both individuals and organizations, are each doing their thing, working on getting the lower floor of the building fixed so displays can be arranged for the viewing of the public, hopefully, by Pioneer Picnic Day which falls the last Friday of August.

Mrs. Dan Brisco is General Chairman in charge of the renovating and cleaning up activities and has received "great co-operation" from her volunteer helpers, especially the members of the Boy Scout Troop No. 452 of Vale who have worked like beavers tearing out fixtures and policing the grounds. An office has been set up and beginning August 7th there will be an attendant each afternoon from 1 to 4:30 p.m. to answer the telephone to record information relating to articles which owners may wish to give to the Museum or loan for a limited time only. The telephone is listed under the Goodwin Memorial Museum and the number is 473-3132.

Mrs. Richard Russell of Vale is in charge of preparing clothing to be shown and is asking that anyone interested in assisting her with the renovating or researching clothing of the pioneer period for authenticity get in touch with her at her home.

At present, large articles such as wagons or furniture, can not be accepted due to lack of storage space. However, full information will be recorded in the office about the article as to its whereabouts and the name of the owner, for future reference.

Under the auspices of the Malheur Country Historical Society, the Museum Committee is seeking federal funds to use in the ultimate and complete restoration of the Stone House, the cradle of our County's history. Built as a trading post by Louis Rinehart in 1872-73 later became a stage coach hotel and even served as a fort during the Banock-Plate Indian War. General O.O. Howard of the United States Army headquartered there while commanding troops in this area during the Indian uprising.

The House was given to the citizens of Malheur County by the heirs of the late Tom Goodwin, for whom the Museum is named. Mr. Goodwin was a well-known rancher in the County who purchased the house following the death of the last of the Rinehart family.
