

THIS NEW SCOREBOARD will be installed and ready to go Friday night on the Nyssa football field for the opening game with Ontario. It was obtained from Ontario High School after Ontario businessmen purchased a new board for the Ontario field. Both TVCC and the high school use the Ontario field, so a scoreboard with 15-minute quarters was necessary for the college use. The scoreboard has been repainted and completely overhauled by school personnel Merledean Robbins and Don Breshears, and will be a very welcome addition to the Nyssa field. Nyssa Bulldogs will do their best to keep the Tigers from posting a score on the "VISITOR" side of their old board.

Just what do they want? The raggle taggle trash that inhabited Flamingo Park in Miami at the last two national political conventions make a lot of noise about things that are wrong with the nation, but are seemingly unable to come up with any answers to the problems they pose. They don't like the Vietnam War. Nobody likes the war, but they refuse or are to stupid to understand that the United States troops have been reduced from 550,000 to less than 50,000. True, the airforce and navy are pounding the North Vietnamese, but our ground involvement is practically nil.

These inflamed rioters act as though the United States was a Banana Republic. They find fault with everything. Their communistic leaders keep preaching the glories of communism and they fall for the line. If they acted in Moscow as they did in Miami they would have been gunned down like the patriots were in Hungary. No communistic nation would even pretend to put up with the shenanigans of the hoodlums who attempted to interfere with the organization of our national parties.

On the other hand it was a breath of fresh air to see the young people who were seriously trying to find remedies for anything that may or may not be wrong with the nation. Both political conventions had a wonderful showing of young people who were not trying to burn the nation down, but were trying to help build it up. Certainly they have some immature ideas, at least some of the older people believe that they just might change their minds when they bump up against actualities. But the young people are trying to bring about changes in the proper manner, not by mob law. We see so much in the news media about the hippies, zippies and other stuff that we forget that these misguided youths are in a minority. Most of our 18 to 25 young people are clear thinking. I may not agree with all they think, but differences in opinions is the privilege of all citizens in America. As long as this nation has young people coming up that are of the caliber that attended the conventions within the halls without screaming and throwing rocks we will continue as a nation for many years to come.

Money Needed To Improve Child Development Center

A plea to the community for cash has been made by the Malheur County Child Development Center. According to Terry Eheler, social worker for the Malheur centers, the Nyssa center is located behind the Catholic Church in Nyssa. As of September 1, 1972 the center must be in three mobile trailers. They have been using the Catholic Hall during the summer, along with the trailers.

Miss Eheler emphasized that the local control over the center is an important aspect as it is designed by citizens of the community to serve the community. Anyone interested in contributing or helping to raise funds should contact Miss Eheler at the center. Contributions should be sent to P.O. Box 203, in Ontario, in care of Terry Eheler. Any visitors are welcome at the center at any time or at any of the board meetings which occur once a month at either the Ontario or Nyssa center.

The center accepts children from Nyssa, Adrian and Vale. The Center has also been required to install an air conditioner in the nursery and toddler's room. Projected cost of this is $650. Among the emergency needs at the Nyssa Center are $400 worth of shelving for storage, partitioning for the classrooms, $500 for one new bathroom in one of the trailers, $500 for an elevated boardwalk (required by state law) from trailer to trailer to transfer food, connect classrooms among other things. $400 is needed for the foundation for new leased-purchased mobile home to serve as offices, kitchen, bathroom, nursery and isolation room. $500 is required to hook up plumbing and another $500 for the electricity.

All of these things, Miss Eheler said, are necessary if the center is to continue to operate and they are expensive. She explained that the center is a community supported project. For each one-fourth of the center's support put up by the community, the state and federal matches with the other three-quarters. The center is budgeted six dollars a day per child based upon attendance figures, but this amount won't cover the added expenses, Miss Eheler said.

She feels it is important that the community realize the center is run locally and without financial support from the community, this local control will be lost. Currently the center is run by the Treasure Valley United Action Committee. It is open to all people and operates on a sliding income basis which means that the more money you make, the more you will be responsible for in payment of the care of your child.

Top-of-the-Line '73 Monte Carlo

The all-new Monte Carlo, the flagship of the Chevrolet fleet, is among the most changed of all seven Chevrolet car lines in 1973. Featuring beautifully sculptured side and rear-quarter metal, new grille, and an optional Landau or opera-type vinyl roof, the Monte Carlo is a styling classic. Many months of advanced chassis and suspension engineering work have given the Monte Carlo handling and roadability said to equal or surpass that of Europe's most expensive personal touring cars. Introduction date for all 1973 Chevrolets will be Thursday, September 21.

Elk Permit Drawing Held

Continued high interest in elk hunting was demonstrated today when a large number of elk hunters turned out for the drawing for special elk permits at the Game Commission's headquarters in Portland.

The sequence of numbers pulled by hunters assisting in the drawing was 1, 5, 3, 2, 8, 6, 4, 0, 9, 7. This relates to the last digit on the applicant's elk permit number. There were 24,664 applications for the 3,770 permits. Only one area, Indian Creek, was under-subscribed. All priority applicants were successful in areas of their first choice with the exception of the Starkey area where the number of priority applicants exceeded the available permits by six. The six unsuccessful priority applicants in the Starkey area received permits in their second choice areas.

Listed below are the areas and the sequence numbers (total or partial) that were used to fill the quota for each area after priority applications had been processed.

- Polk - 1 (47 of 82)
- Sixes - 1 (50 of 51)
- Siuslaw - 1 (47 of 52)
- Baker - 1 (76 of 97)
- Catherine Creek - 1, 5, 3 (39 of 49)
- Chesnimms - 1 (154 of 168)
- Desolation - 1 (29 of 162)
- Heppner - 1 (154 of 223)
- Imnaha - 1, 5 (53 of 67)
- Keating - 1, 5, 3, 2, 8, (43 of 58)
- Lookout Mountain - 1 through 7
- Minam - 1, 5, 3 (86 of 105)
- North Snake - 1, 5, 3, 2 (19 of 65)
- South Snake - 1, 5, 3, 2, 8 (4 of 13)

ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION COURSE PLANNED IN BURNS

An environmental education course will be held at the Malheur Environmental Field Station, Burns, Oregon, on the weekends of September 22-24, and September 29-October 1. The course is designed for teachers, and optional 3 hour credit is being offered by Eastern Oregon College.

The course uses the process approach to learning and assists teachers in developing an activity oriented curriculum, using various parts of the environment as a classroom. It uses problem solving skills and environmental field investigations to develop concepts of environmental management.

Other sessions will include planning for Environmental Education programs such as development and use of Environmental Study Areas (schoolyards, parks, streams, urban areas, etc.), outdoor schools planning, curriculum development, etc.

As a result of this course teachers should be able to:

1. Involve their students in environmental investigations that develop ecological understandings through collecting, recording and interpreting data.
2. Identify areas on the schoolyard and other parts of their community that could be used as environmental study areas.

3. Develop activities, teaching aids or other instructional materials to fit local environmental study areas.

4. Explain to key community leaders and groups how environmental education helps accomplish the goals of quality education.

Ernest C. McDonald, Environmental education specialist from the Forest Service's Portland office will be the instructor.

Costs for the course include $18.00 for board and room for both weekends and an additional $87.00 if college credit is desired. Teachers interested should register by writing before September 15 to:

Joe Mazzoni, Refuge Manager
Malheur National Wildlife Refuge
P.O. Box 113, Burns, Oregon-97720
