Doom Purveyors Debunked

Since awareness of our surroundings became widespread in the 1960's, people have looked hopelessly forward to an overpopulated, polluted and starving world. While their concern is to be applauded, the threat to the earth is exaggerated. The DDT furor is a good example. It was thought that banning this insecticide would purify the earth. DDT, however, was effective against insects that spread malaria and destroyed crops.

Now, with DDT spraying prohibited, people no longer have to fear chemical poisoning, just disease and starvation. A United Nations food report recently stated that this is happening in backward parts of the globe.

More people and less food is another concern. Food scarcity, too, is exaggerated. Millions of acres lie unused in Brazil, Ethiopia and elsewhere. The U. S. has to worry about surpluses, not shortages.

Research has developed new strains of wheat that greatly increase yields. A century ago, it took 50 hours of work to produce one acre of corn. Today, mechanized farming can do it in two hours.

Pollution and population fears are likewise overstated. There has been no change in the atmosphere's oxygen content for a half-century. Some noxious gases, such as sulphur dioxide, have actually declined.

Charging that the United States will be overpopulated by the year 2000 is a little silly. If the present birth rate continues to decline, we will be underpopulated by the year 4000.

Today's doomsayers are rather like those who doubted Columbus, pessimists whose only joy is spreading their anxiety. —U. S. Press Association

SUPERINTENDENT'S CORNER

By W.L. McPartland

Nyssa schools and their operation are of interest to every citizen of our community—either as a parent of a child, or as a taxpayer.

What are areas that you would like discussed? Anything that is of general interest could be a topic.

One of the areas that Nyssa schools have been working to expand is in the Vocational field. The Vo-Ag and Home Ec have offered programs for many years. A cooperative program with other schools in the county and the Intermediate Education was formed three years ago—enabling Nyssa to have a Business Occupational laboratory for training in Office Practice under the direction of Dale Schraufnagel; Industrial Mechanics, under Dick Tracy; Metal Fabrication—George Fanning; and Building Trades under the supervision of Bill Hood.

The Building Trades group is now finishing up the shop to be used by the Industrial Mechanics group.

Last spring the building group started a house which was financed by the Rev. Martinez, and had this project about 50% completed when school was out.

The Building Trades Advisory Committee, composed of eight Nyssa businessmen, has incorporated and is in the process of providing money for the Building Trades class to buy a lot and build a house that would be completed and ready for sale by the time school is out next spring.

OUT OF THE PAST

10 YEARS AGO

The new Treasure Valley Community College began fall quarter classes Monday, Sept. 24 in Ontario's high school buildings.

President E.F. Voris announced Wednesday that a total of 140 students had registered and that final date was Monday October 15. The fall term is due to end December 15.

Listed as enrolled from Nyssa were Marie Kusper, Dorothy Leavitt, Robert Heldt, Susan Stringer, Ruth Thompson, Kenneth Castleberry, Jennifer Sue Stephen, and Harry Lee Tonnig.

The street widening project on East Main Street in Nyssa, from the railroad underpass to Snake River bridge, is nearing completion.

20 YEARS AGO

For the second successive year, Darrell Steinke has bagged the first deer of the season. Both times they were taken from the Canyon Creek Game preserve in the John Day area with bow and arrow.

Steinke, accompanied on the hunt by Elwin Haroldson, Laurence Oden and Ted Teske, brought his six-point buck out Thursday a week ago. He dropped the animal from 35 to 40 yards with an arrow through the rib section. He used a 57-pound bow and broad-head hunting arrow.

The 37th and 38th polio victims were admitted to the Malheur Memorial Hospital Monday, one from Vale and one from Burns.

The Amalgamated Sugar Company will start slicing beets in its Nyssa factory September 29, about 10 days earlier than usual.

The beet harvest in the Nyssa Nampa district will be started Monday and the operations will be started in the Nyssa factory the next day.

The new Nampa factory is expected to be opened for operation during the first ten days of October. During the first few days of the "campaign" all of the beets will be processed in the Nyssa factory.

D. E. Smith, agricultural superintendent of the company, said the beets are excellent in quality and should at least equal the sixteen and one half ton average of the last few years.

Malheur County will be able to fill the September quota of men required under the selective service act from present lists of 1-A registrants and may be able to fill the October quota, a member of the draft board said.

Whether any married men with wives who are self supporting will be included in either the September or October quota can not be learned until the list of names of those summoned for induction is released.

Postponement of the day when it will be necessary to draft married men with dependent children appears likely so far as Malheur County is concerned provided Congress passes legislation allowing drafting of youths in the 18-19 year bracket.

40 YEARS AGO
 Nyssa students have returned to various colleges of the northwest. Enrolled at Oregon State College are Ralph Boden, Donald Sherwood, George Reberger and Owen Davis; Katherine Leuck has returned to the University of Oregon; Agnes Nichols to Reed College; Dorothy Holly at Willamette University; Pearl Williams has returned to Utah State University; Donna Cook, Deana Smith and Crete Marie Foster are among students at the Eastern Oregon Normal School; Howard Foster and Chester Sager at Gooding College.

Twelve deer were brought into Nyssa yesterday with the honor for the first deer apparently falling to Henry Herd of Shea Camp, who arrived home at 2:30 a.m. with his venison. Other successful nimrods were Audie Mahan, George Ward, Vernon Butler, Conley Butler, Ralph Lawrence, Leroy Teutsch, Dick Young, George Stacey, Wilfred Karrer, Archie Howell and E. T. Edwards, guest of Dr. John Long.

Others who were in the hills the opening day and have not yet returned are Artie Robertson, Pud Long, Frank Newbill, Dr. E.D. Norcott, his brother Arthur Norcott, Roy Pounds, Dave Dugger, C.B. Short, Barney Wilson, Marlin Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Frost and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ernest and son John.

50 YEARS AGO
 When the gates of the Thirtieth Annual Malheur County Fair open next Wednesday the public will view the most complete exhibits ever offered in this section. The premium offerings aggregate $3,000. The evening amusement features will be provided through contract made with the Snapp Brothers Show which include many new and novel attractions, both in shows and rides. The total offerings in prizes and purses amount to $5,000.

The festivities will commence with a gorgeous parade, including three bands, through the business streets, which will be many miles in length. The barbecue will be served at 12, this will be a free meal and plenty of it.

The daily program will include running races, Roman races, auto races, motorcycle races, wild horse races, relay races. In addition there will be a continuous performance of horse shoe pitching, nail driving contest, clowns, etc.

On the last day, a calf roping contest will be staged in front of the grand stand which promises to be exceptionally interesting. A three mile cow boy race will also be staged as one of the closing numbers of the program.
