

Have You Registered To Vote

"Have you registered to vote?" This is the question many Sunday Schoolers of the Conservative Baptist Church are asking. They have two reasons for asking. They want to encourage everyone eligible to vote to participate in the November 7 general election and they want to invite people to "Vote for Sunday School."

"Vote for Sunday School" is the theme of the fall Sunday School contest. A "primary" election was conducted last Sunday with everyone present voting in one of two "party" primaries. The goal of the parties is to elect a "Mr." and a "Miss Sunday School."

Out of 9 or 10 candidates for each position, the parties narrowed their fields in this first election. The "Publishers" party now has Shelley Mayden, Karen Anderson, Dee Stam, Susie Page and Angie Stam as candidates for "Miss Sunday School." For "Mr. Sunday School" they have Mike Mathews, Taft Blackburn, Jerry Page, Kerrick Bauman, and Scott Anderson.

The "Dedicats" party narrowed their field to Cora Lee Meyer and Nina Vanetti for "Miss Sunday School" and David Coats and Cliff Vanetti for "Mr. Sunday School." Both parties will conduct "run-off" elections Sunday.

Each party is seeking to bring visitors to Sunday School to register to vote for their candidates. They are not only anxious to get their candidates elected but to keep from having extra duties at the coming Sunday School Appreciation Dinner. The party that loses the November 5 general election will have to set up and clean up for that dinner.

Reports from the first Sunday of the contest indicate that enthusiasm in both parties is running high. Total attendance was the highest it has been this fall and both parties were predicting higher attendance this coming Sunday.

Campaign chairman for the Publishers is Larry Blackburn; for the Dedicats is Gary Jackson. Their wives are serving the respective parties as registrars. Each party has a campaign button that may be seen about the town.

OUT OF THE PAST

10 YEARS AGO

Dr. Eugene Voris of Ontario, administrator of Treasure Valley Community College, reported Wednesday morning that the college trustees had accepted a site for the permanent location of the college. He said they had accepted Ontario's offer of the land now occupied by the golf course and an additional 40 acres adjoining it on the south. The offer involves no cost to taxpayers of the district. Transfer of title is in the process of being completed now.

The golf course will continue to be used for a few years until preparations for the buildings are necessary.

Relocation of the golf course on the Ontario airport is being considered by city groups, with the idea of expanding into an 18-hole course.

Chuck Corak, captain of the Nyssa Bulldogs, placed a cape on Miss Marsha Savage and crowned her as Nyssa Homecoming Queen during half time ceremonies at the Nyssa-Parma football game Friday evening. Jerry Hendricks, was her escort for the evening.

Due to the acute nurse shortage all were flown here for emergency duty.

Four of the 22 cases in the hospital are in isolation and four are iron lung cases, at least for part of the time.

Miss Kay Olsen who is leaving for Ogden, was honored at a farewell surprise party at the Olsen's sand dunes on the banks of the Snake River Saturday evening. Hostess for the affair was Miss Nancy Skeen. The five guests present were Jeanine Drown, Sally Kessler, Reona Christensen, Douglas Lewis and Gary Chestnut.

The Nyssa Union High School, which had been closed for two weeks to enable students to work in the harvest fields, was closed again Tuesday because of the continued critical labor situation.

The school, which was reopened Monday, was closed for an indefinite period of time, Superintendent Henry Hartley said.

Only about 50 percent of the students reported for classes Monday and most of the group returned to work in the fields. Mr. Hartley said that practically all of the 250 students in the high school have jobs. "It seemed best to harvest the crops because the quicker we get the work done the quicker we can start school," Mr. Hartley said.

The students are working with various types of crops. Some of the girls are even topping beets, which is considered difficult work. Most of the boys are working the beet fields, according to Frank Parr, high school principal, who has organized the crews.

An additional 75 Japanese from reception centers have arrived in this district within the last two weeks to work in the harvest fields, but the labor situation so far as the beet harvest is concerned is still bad.

Workers are harvesting approximately 10,000 tons of beets a day now, whereas enough labor should be available to Supplementing their distribution of flour and cotton clothing, made by volunteers, to needy and distressed families. Red Cross chapters in the Pacific area are now making requisitions on the national organization for ready-made cotton garments which will be available before the chilling blasts of winter cause suffering.

So far as is known at present only flour and cotton material have been allotted to the Malheur County Chapter of Red Cross comprising units in Nyssa, Vale, and Ontario. Thousands of volunteers throughout the land formed into sewing groups, have been working in Red Cross Chapter sewing rooms converting the cotton piece goods into clothing for men, women and children.

The yardage consists of cotton prints, cotton flannels, shirting, gingham, muslin and birdseye.

Wm. Vogts returned Tuesday from a fishing trip at Lake Lowell. The water has been turned out of the big irrigation ditch at that place and the game warden allowed them to get the fish, which were perch, a game fish. Bill brought back almost 1000 small perch and put them in the Snake River.

It never rains that it doesn't pour. While Mr. Enos was cranking a truck for a customer, he had the misfortune to break his arm. As he was unable to cut wood his wife was trying to perform the duty and cut her toe. Both are recovering from their injuries and expect to be well soon.
