Interior Secretary Morton . . .

Announces Expanded Johnny Horizon '76 Campaign

Secretary of the Interior Rogers C. B. Morton has announced completion of the expansion and redesign of the nationwide, environmental action campaign, Johnny Horizon '76.

With the goal to "Clean Up America For Our 200th Birthday," Johnny Horizon '76 appeals to all citizens to embrace an "I'll help, too," attitude to prevent litter, minimize pollution and use natural resources wisely.

Supported by an Act of Congress, Johnny Horizon '76 is an expansion of a program launched in 1968 by Interior's Bureau of Land Management. It became part of the Office of the Secretary of the Interior in July 1972. On October 1, 1972, Andrew F. Wahlquist, formerly of U.S. Steel Corporation, was named national coordinator of the program.

Several government agencies have joined the Department of the Interior as cosponsors of Johnny Horizon '76, and to date there are more than 1500 other sponsors. They include chambers of commerce, schools, churches, youth groups, and conservation, civic and commercial organizations.

Citizens have responded to the campaign with a wide range of on-the-ground, action projects such as cleanups of inner-city and suburban streets, homes, rural and recreation areas, beautification projects, conservation efforts and the establishment of resource recovery centers.

With the help of Johnny Horizon '76 environmental education kits, more than 30,000 teachers throughout the country have organized classroom ecology projects, school and park cleanups and helped introduce their students to ecology.

Recently, statewide Johnny Horizon cleanup campaigns were held in Oregon, Utah,

New York and elsewhere.

In announcing the campaign's expansion, Secretary Morton said, "There is no greater challenge today than the challenge to clean up and protect the environment. I urge all citizens to join the Johnny Horizon '76 campaign and help clean up America for our 200th birthday — then keep it clean."
