

OUT OF THE PAST

10 YEARS AGO

Three local men were the object of a search at Lake Owyhee Sunday when they failed to return from a fishing trip at the time they had planned.

The trio, Willard Willis, Bert and Dee Crump, took a boat out at noon, saying they planned to return about 4 p.m. When it grew later and they were still not back, Cal Hughes, resort manager, and Jim Henderson began looking for them.

After making several trips across the rough waters of the lake the two found the missing fishermen about 5 o'clock Monday morning. They had spent the night in a cabin approximately 12 miles from the resort after their boat had developed engine trouble.

Representing four sets of twins that will be entered in the first grade of Nyssa schools next fall are: Sally and Susan Holmes, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Holmes; Marilyn and Carolyn Pound, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pound; Vaughn and Van Schulthies, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Schulthies and Roger and Ralph Carter, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carter. The Schulthies boys are the only identical twins in the group, and in school will follow a brother-sister set of twins, Brent and Berniel, who are first graders this year.

Recent donations have brought the Malheur Memorial polo ward fund to $3,000 it was announced this week by John O'Toole, manager.

The latest contributions came from friends of Mrs. O. N. Erickson, Route 2, Ontario, who before her recent death, devoted much of her time to polo work.

30 YEARS AGO

Houston Wilson of Nyssa is one of the 110 senior ROTC students of Oregon State College who was sworn into the United States Army as a private, March 22 at Portland. He was assigned back to school until the end of this term.

Frank Morgan of Nyssa, former president of the Western Beet Growers Association, and the man who made famous the slogan, the "house that beets built," said "Sugar beets have been good to me."

"Sugar beets are also an extremely valuable crop in every kind of livestock program, beef, cattle, sheep, dairying and everything."

40 YEARS AGO

Legal beer returned to Nyssa and other Oregon towns Friday but no uncalled for "whoopee" greeted the arrival of the first loads here. The 3.2 percent beverage is proving merely a mild but pleasant drink for those who like beer. A good many people came from Idaho for a tippler or two, most of them pronouncing it "good" and much like the old "suds."

Celebrating fifty years of wedded life, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marshall held open house at their home here yesterday when around 125 guests called to wish them more happiness.

50 YEARS AGO

Another pioneer of the West has passed from the rapidly diminishing lists of the rugged army that hewed homes from the wilderness for the present generation.

Jeremiah Broseman, affectionately known among the people as "Jerry" died at the home ranch March 17, at the age of 58 years, 5 months and 7 days. He came to Malheur County in 1882.

Mrs. M. M. Greeling pleasantly entertained twenty ladies of the community Friday afternoon. Mrs. Yates of Roswell was the only out of Colony guest. Mrs. Herbert Hickox assisted the hostess.

BRIDGE ACTIVITIES

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miner hosted the Mr. and Mrs. Bridge Club Saturday, April 7. Winning high honors for the women was Mrs. Fred Guthrie and Tom Eldredge won high honors for the men.

Mrs. Howard Myrick entertained the Thursday Bridge group, April 5. Mrs. Ted Morgan took high honors with Mrs. Jim Williams receiving second high.

Reverend Bob's Column

On the cross Christ wasn't praying, "Father, end my suffering quickly, take me out of this world, out of the company of these two thieves and this mocking crowd, off this hated Hillside."

No, Christ was continuing His redemptive and loving ministry. Concerning those who had crucified Him, those who abused, those who hated Him, He had prayed, "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do." And then He had turned in response to the prayer of the repentant thief and said, "Today, thou shalt be with Me in Paradise."

But now He turns His attention to His mother, Mary. The suffering of Mary was great. Simeon had said to Mary when the Baby Jesus had been brought to the temple -- "a sword shall pierce thy own soul, also." And now here at the foot of the cross, the sword of suffering was piercing the soul of Mary. She had suffered to bring Him into the world, but she would suffer even more as He would leave the world, nailed to a cross.

Now, in the last moments of earthly ministry, He must provide for His mother. During those years after the death of Joseph, Jesus had been the provider in the home. But during His three year ministry He had forsaken her.

For He who had said, "He that loveth father or mother more than Me is not worthy of Me and he that loveth son or daughter more than Me is not worthy of Me," must, He himself, be willing to forsake His mother, His brother, His sister, His home and the comforts of home. For He would not ask a greater sacrifice of another which He was not willing to make.

But now He had come to the cross, He had set the course, He had and was paying the price, redemption and the forgiveness of sin was being purchased, the end was in sight, and our Lord, Who had forsaken His mother, could now provide for her.

Near the foot of the cross stood Mary and John, The Beloved. Our Lord said to Mary, "Woman, behold thy son." Here Christ was saying, "John will be thy son in my place, He will comfort thee, guide thee, and protect thee and provide for thee." Then to John He said, "Behold, thy mother."

When Jesus entrusted His dearest possession, His mother, to the keeping of John, He conferred upon him the highest honor He could. But the honor bore responsibility for John was now to fill the place in Mary's life left vacant by Jesus. This was not an easy task - yet John gladly accepted. His arms went around the shoulders of Mary and he led her to his home, to the comfort of his fireside, to share his humble dwelling and partake at his table.

The scripture simply says, "And that disciple took her unto his own home."
