Herb Sez ...

Ah me, Spring has sprung in the Beautiful Meadows Valley. Today the wind is but a gentle breeze and the sun is oozing onto us from a near cloudless sky. If you listen right closely you can hear the green things coming up through the ground. It makes a person feel good to be alive. As far as that goes it feels good to be alive just about any time of year in the United States of America. We don't know what it is to wake up to the rata-tat-tat of machine gun fire or the crunch of a mortar. This is about the only land that is free from the horrors of war in our front yard. It certainly is nice to be alive in Meadows Valley in the spring. A couple of nights ago it wasn't nice to be outside. We had a dandy blizzard. The wind made our fireplace moan. It felt nice to be snug and warm out of the weather. It reminded me of a saying of my Grandfather Thatcher's. When the weather was nasty he would say, "Thank God Houses are hollow." The only reason we have some nasty weather in the Spring is to make us more thankful that winter's behind us. I used to know an old fellow in Star by the name of Ed Lister. About this time of year he would always remind us that he felt somewhat better because he now had two summers and one winter ahead of him. He never mentioned that the opposite was true in the fall.

Isn't it amazing how much trash can accumulate in your yard during the winter? I guess the snow must be a wonderful place to bury bones because the dogs find it easy digging. Anyhow we usually find a large assortment. This year we had very little snow and the bones are few and far between, but we have found in times past, an entire leg bone of a deer. And I wonder where the rocks come from. Do they work their way up through the ground? Some of them are as big as your fist. If this column seems a little bit disconnected it's because it's a little bit disconnected. You see, spring is here and I'm sure lazy. Think-I'll take a nap.
