

OUT OF THE PAST

10 YEARS AGO

The weather has been highly varied in Malheur County during the past week. Temperatures ranging from a high of 70 degrees Sunday to a reported low of 20 in the Cow Hollow area yesterday, have brought high winds, snow, frost, a pelting of rain and a minimum of sunshine.

The freezing temperatures have destroyed most of the family orchards of sweet cherries, peaches, apricots, and plums, plus considerable damage to early apple crops.

Third grade teachers include Mrs. Vale Hagoy, Virgil Seaward, Mrs. Murial Judd, Mrs. Helen Gonyer and Mrs. Naomi May.

20 YEARS AGO

Henry (Hank) Storm, former resident of Nyssa, returned recently after being away for two years to join the Ken Pond Real Estate Agency as a salesman.

Frost has damaged about ten percent of the early beet plantings in Malheur County and the Nyssa district, but the 1953 crop is as far along as it was a year ago at this time. The frost damage has been spotted and is considered far from serious, with replanting expected to be completed by this weekend.

30 YEARS AGO

Mrs. Ben Calvert was bruised on the right arm and on the body Monday evening when she was thrown from a wagon pulled by her husband's run-away team.

A daughter, Leona Calvert, jumped from the wagon and was only slightly bruised. Mr. Calvert escaped injury when he jumped from the wagon after the second rein broke.

The horses started to run at Third and Main streets when a lame strap broke and after plunging around on a vacant lot, swung onto Main street, where the wagon crushed a fender on the A. L. Atkinson automobile. Several men stopped the team on First Street between Main Street and Good Avenue.

Here's a tip for the thrifty motorist. Drivers licenses will sell for exactly twice the present price after June 9, the fee having been raised to one dollar under the new law which will become effective at that time. Those who get their licenses renewed before June 9 will not only save half the cost but will avoid the last minute rush which is certain to occur, reports Hal E. Hoss, Secretary of State.

The Nyssa Civic Club at its April meeting yesterday, favored building a tennis court for young people of the town at the Caldwell-Schiemer block back of the Caldwell store where the miniature golf course was formerly located. A committee has secured use of the property and a cost estimate. The next move will be to secure the cooperation of the Boy and Girl Scouts. Mrs. William Schreman reported for Mrs. W. F. McLaughlin, committee chairman.

During the past five years Rocky Mountain spotted fever has steadily increased in Eastern Oregon. Increase in the number of deaths naturally follows the increase in the number of cases. The death rate is approximately ten percent in Oregon.

Those who are out of doors and are accessible to ticks should make frequent inspections of the body, three times daily for ticks; since the tick is slow to attach and usually remains for a short period before beginning the act of feeding. The physicians are requested to report all cases of the disease coming to their attention.

Nyssa-Adrian PTA's Attend State Convention in April

The Nyssa and Adrian PTA's were represented at the State PTA Convention held in Coos Bay, Oregon, April 16-17. Attending from Nyssa were Mrs. Ruth Beck, outgoing president, Mrs. Glenda Barnes, incoming president, Mrs. Jean Wood, incoming secretary, and Mrs. Jeanetta Garner, Malheur County PTA president. Mrs. Don Baker, president of Adrian PTA represented her town. The ladies left Nyssa Sunday and arrived in Coos Bay after visiting points of interest along the way.

The theme for the State Convention was PTA-NOW MORE THAN EVER! Convention headquarters was the Courtel Thunderbird and the actual convention was at the Marshfield High School Auditorium. Mrs. Vernon Wanless OCPPT president, presided. Mrs. Earl Hilton, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, a member of the NCPT Education Commission gave the keynote address. Workshops filled the rest of the day.

Monday evening a regional dinner was held for each region represented. Favours were distributed by each plate from various towns in the region. Nyssa favours were kindly donated by Dessert Seed Company, Harvey Wilnot, Manager, which consisted of three seed packets and a pencil sewn in a plastic bag with the firm's name; and ball-point pens and golf tees were donated by the First National Bank, Rod George, manager. The Nyssa PTA gratefully acknowledges their support.

Tuesday, workshops were held concerning health and safety concerning Health and Safety, Publicity, Public Relations and Newsletter; Program, Founders Day, Cultural Arts; Character and Spiritual Life; Teacher Education Scholarship; Ways and Means, Magazine; Juvenile Protections, Mental Health; Parent and Family Life; Membership, Specialized Child Services; Hospitality, Room Representatives; and a Special Workshop on Volunteers in the Courts.

New State officers were elected and Tuesday evening a general meeting, banquet and reception for new officers was held.

The ladies returned home

Speaking to the Consumer

"Lo-balling" is a fraudulent trade practice of which some repair businesses are guilty, and one that consumers should be aware of. This is an example: An auto repair business may offer unusually low-priced service. However, when you take in your car for repair and it is dismantled, the need for additional repairs is "discovered." The consumer is offered a "special" rate for the extras. If he refuses the offer, he is charged a high cost to have the car re-assembled. A lien may even be put on the car so the consumer cannot recover it without paying up.

If you suspect this type of trade practice, contact your District Attorney or the Oregon Attorney General's Office, Portland, for an investigation. Here are a few examples of Oregonians' complaints that served business as well as the consumer. Business firms became aware of and corrected a malfunctioning refrigeration unit, a fabric treatment that was unsatisfactory, an out-of-calibration scales, and a reusable plastic container that shrank after repeated sterilization. Your constructive complaint might be just as helpful.

Employment in Oregon in mid-January totaled 917,000, a 4.2 percent increase over the 880,800 employed in January, 1972, and compared with 918,500 employed in December, 1972, the Oregon Employment Division reports.

The seasonally-adjusted rate of unemployment in Oregon for January was 5.1 percent compared with 5.5 percent a year earlier and 6.2 percent a month earlier. The national rate for January was 5.0 percent. The Oregon Employment Division reports that the 5.1 percent Oregon rate is the lowest since January, 1970.

The Oregon Wage and Salary Employment Index (based on 100 average in 1967) was at 123.2 in January, compared with 116.1 a year earlier and 119.5 in December. The Oregon Employment Division reports this indicates a significant economic expansion over the month and year and a record wage and salary index level.

The Oregon Employment Division made 4,280 non-agricultural job placements during January, compared with 2,866 during the same month a year ago.

The Oregon Employment Division made 1,755 job placements of veterans during January compared with 838 during January, 1972.

Wood Products employment in Oregon in January averaged 73,400 compared with 70,200 a year earlier and 71,500 in December.

Lowering of the voting age to 18 brought with it the right of a young person to sign a sales contract or credit agreement without the consent of a parent or guardian. No longer is being a "minor" (under age 21) a valid reason for terminating a written agreement; fraud or an illegal sales practice will have to be proved.

Parents must help teenagers understand the obligations they undertake when they sign their name to a contract--and the consequences if they default on the terms of the contract.
