There are lots of Macaroni and Cheese recipes but in my book this one is tops. It will serve 6 to 8 guests or family. With a green vegetable and a tossed salad and rolls, it will make a meal-and oh! Yes! Dessert if you're not on a diet! Most of us don't get enough milk products in our menus anyway.

MACARONI AND CHEESE (serves 6 - 8)

- 1/2 lb. processed Am. Cheddar Cheese (grated)
- 2 cups macaroni, uncooked
- 2 tablespoons onion (minced)
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 teaspoon mustard, dry or prepared
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups milk

Cook macaroni in 2 quarts of boiling water to which 1 teaspoon salt has been added, (about 9 min.). Grate cheese. Melt butter, add onion, flour, mustard, salt, pepper, and milk. Stir until smooth. Add 3/4 of the grated cheese and stir until melted. Pour macaroni into a 2-quart casserole, stir in cheese sauce. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake 20 minutes in a 400 degree, preheated oven. Serve immediately. Serves 6 - 8.

I walked into the garden yesterday and found that the rhubarb was large enough to use! I've also talked to friends who have cut asparagus already. The first crop froze - but now its great.

Rhubarb requires a lot of sugar but if you can stand the calories - its worth it. Rhubarb can be made into many mouth-watering dishes. Here's one I like - and easy to make Rhubarb Delight.

RHUBARB DELIGHT

- 4 cups cut rhubarb (cut in 1/2" pieces)
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour

Mix sugar, flour and rhubarb and pat into a 10-inch pan. Mix the following and spread over the rhubarb: 1/2 cup each of butter, flour, sugar and oatmeal.

Bake in a 350 degree oven for 30 minutes, or until rhubarb is done and crust browned. Serve warm or cold with whipped cream or ice cream. Serves six.

Holt Adoption Program Moves To New Quarters

After 16 years of operating a worldwide child placement program from cramped offices of a farm near Creswell, the Holt Adoption Program has moved into a new headquarters building in Eugene.

Governor Tom McCall, Senator Mark O. Hatfield and other dignitaries will help celebrate opening of the new building during a three-day dedication April 26-27-28.

The building, a two-story structure with 11,000 square feet of office space, will house the 40 employees who coordinate the vast program.

The 10,000th orphan was placed in an adoptive home by the Holt Program December 24, 1972. (The 5,000th was placed on April 16, 1970.)

The Holt Adoption Program was created in 1956 after Harry and Bertha Holt, Creswell farmers, adopted eight mixed-race orphans into their own family. As a result of the nationwide news coverage given the arrival of the eight, the Hols were flooded with inquiries from American families who wanted to help orphans of the war by placing them in their own homes. In that first year alone, more than 500 people contacted the Hols.

Mrs. Holt later wrote of what happened to her and her husband during 1955 in her book, "The Seed From The East" (Oxford Press, 1956.) Still later, in 1967, she was honored as American mother of the year.

Harry Holt died in Korea in April, 1964, shortly after his fifty-ninth birthday. He was buried in Korea on a hillside above the orphanage he had built there.

In 1970, the program placed more than 1,000 children in 14 countries and of these, 104 were handicapped. During that year, the directors of the program adopted a "Statement of Purpose" for the program. Its introduction reads:

"Every child, of whatever nation or race, has the right to grow up with parents of his own. The silent call of homeless children is to all men of good will to see that neither apathy nor prejudice, neither custom nor geographical boundary shall prevent him from receiving his God-given right."

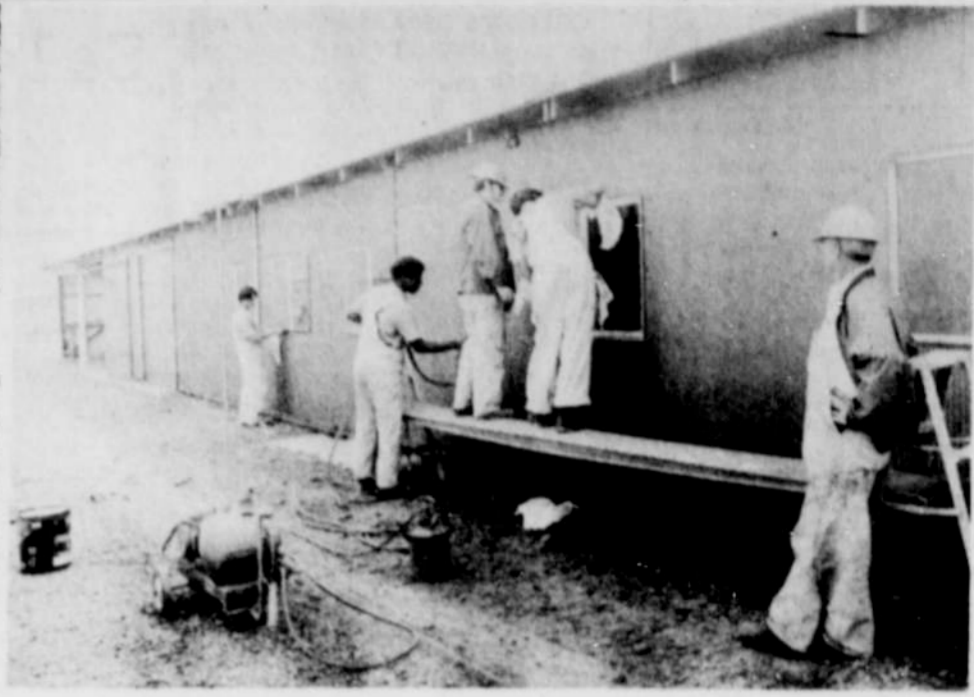

Oregon Cattlemen To Increase Production

Spray, Oregon (Friday April 13) - "The only real solution to the problem of beef and all meat prices is MORE meat supplies, not more controls. The Oregon Cattlemen's Association is requesting all cattle producers to increase their beef production at least by 8% to satisfy consumer appetite and product demand," so stated Donald Ostense, Executive Vice-President of the Oregon Cattlemen's Association to the Wheeler County Livestock Association at their annual spring meeting in Spray, Oregon, (Friday afternoon, April 13, 1973) "From every indication in the northwest and throughout the nation, cattle production is on the increase. Larger supplies of red meat are on the way to the consumers, and as soon as our supply meets their demand, retail prices will stabilize and could even drop a few cents a pound," the Cattlemen's executive said.

"On the other hand, it is very difficult for cattle producers and feeders to increase their production when they are disrupted by artificial restraints, such as boycotts; unlimited amount of beef exports coming into this country from foreign nations and ridiculous government controls such as price ceilings, price freezes and price roll backs. Particularly these price roll backs to January, for red meat only, as suggested by the House Banking Committee in Congress, could prove economic ruin for the majority of cattle feeders in Oregon and throughout the nation. These ridiculous regulations seem only to be motivated by political pressures, endorsed by Eastern legislators who seem to be playing 'economic Russian roulette' with the beef industry pocket book."

Ostense went on to inform the Wheeler County cattlemen that considerable pressure from the major cattle producing states has been put on the entire Congress during the past few days, informing them of the economic dangers their proposed regulations would have not only to the cattle industry but to the American consumers as well. He stated that in his opinion reason would finally prevail and that these regulations would be defeated.

JOB CORPSMEN FROM MARSING JOB CORPS CENTER are painting the BLM Fire and Warehouse buildings at Vale. George R. Gurr, manager of the Vale district, said that the paint job has been done by four young men under the direction of Jim Lovelless of the Marsing Center.

The painting is part of the Job Corpsmen on-the-job training which consumes 70 percent of their working hours, with the remaining 30 percent spent in the classroom. Training cannot exceed two years. Gurr said the group had applied their training in a sincere, conscientious manner and had done an excellent job on the district buildings.
