I have enjoyed two interesting and tasty recipes recently. One is a vegetable and rice casserole and the other a tropical fruit salad. There are no special tricks to mixing them, especially the casserole. You can't miss. The casserole is also good reheated if there's any left for another meal.

CELERY - BROCCOLI CASSEROLE

1 small onion, chopped
1 cup celery, diced
1 pkg. frozen broccoli
1 cup mushrooms, diced
1 cup cheese, whisk
1/2 cup rice, cooked
Saute onions, celery, and broccoli in 1/4 cup butter. Mix in mushrooms, cheese and rice and pour into a 1 1/2 quart casserole.
Bake in a 350 degree oven for 30 to 40 minutes. Serves 6.

ALOHA SALAD

3 pkgs. lemon gelatine
2 cups ginger ale
1 cup crushed pineapple
1/2 cup nut meats
1/2 cup maraschino cherries sliced
4 large bananas, sliced.
Dissolve gelatine in three cups hot water. Let cool. Add ginger ale and cool to syrup stage. Then add pineapple, nuts, cherries, and marshmallows. Slice bananas, into a 9"x12" pan. Pour fruit mixture over them and when mixture begins to set, place in refrigerator. When set, cover with Topping.

ALOHA TOPPING

1/2 cup sugar
1 tsp. cornstarch
1 cup pineapple juice
1 egg
Mix cornstarch into sugar and stir into pineapple juice. Heat and pour 1/2 this mixture over beaten egg and stir. Return to range, mix with remaining juice and cook on low heat until thick. Cool. Fold into 2 cups of mixed topping. Spread over salad. Refrigerate until serving time.
Serves 12 to 15.

Lumber Supply

The world-wide lumber shortage is being helped by a Georgia-Pacific Corp. timber development in Indonesia. After three years of work in a dense jungle, the Portland, Ore., firm now employs 250 Indonesians in its operation of a 350,000-hectare timber concession. The company is credited with being the foreign operator with the largest percentage of Indonesians on its local payrolls and a high level of training in skilled jobs.

In 1972 the U. S. press invested 24 cents in newspaper for every $1.00 of advertising revenue.

Of the $171 billion spent for social welfare in fiscal 1971 by federal, state and local governments, more than half, or $92 billion, came from federal taxes.

Newest Edition Of "Oregon Parks" Available

The newest edition of "Oregon Parks," a guide to Oregon's park system is now available free of charge through the Travel Information office of the State Highway Division or at the chamber of commerce certified information centers scattered about the state, it was announced today by George M. Baldwin, administrator of highways.

The guide lists 514 parks with the facilities which they offer. It includes state parks, waysides or recreation areas, U.S. Forest Service facilities, National Parks Service facilities, Bureau of Land Management campgrounds, county parks, State Forestry parks, power company or timber company parks, and safety rest areas. The services listed include whether area includes tent or trailer campsites, drinking water, wood or electric stoves, pit or flush toilets, and boat ramps.

Included in the guide are state park regulations and charges for overnight camping in these facilities. A list of state parks participating in the reservation program, along with the park phone numbers, is also included. Various points of interest, such as fish hatcheries, are listed along with their locations.

An outline map of the state, divided into 24 sections, is used to locate the various park sites. Symbols and code letters are employed to indicate the various services and facilities.

Kenna Sounds Warning On Information Gap

"Industry will pay a high price if it fails to overcome the lack of information about the workings of business," National Association of Manufacturers president E. Douglas Kenna recently informed a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Connecticut Business & Industry Association.

Addressing their spring meeting in Bermuda, Mr. Kenna said, "Our government cannot eat cake and have it, too. It cannot pay lip service to private enterprise concepts and then pass edicts which deprive the system of effective operation. True, such governmental actions sometimes are politically-oriented, but too often they result from misunderstanding of how business operates."

He said businessmen must work constantly to close the information gap.

Bishop Spofford BLM Announces New Off-Road Vehicle Rules

The Right Reverend William B. Spofford, Jr., Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Eastern Oregon, will deliver the address at the College of Idaho Baccalaureate services, Friday, May 18, according to C of I President Warren B. Knox.

Reverend Spofford's presentation, entitled "The Pilot's Card", will follow the traditional procession of faculty, graduating seniors, and administrative staff at the 8 p.m. service in Jewett Auditorium. The evening's text will be Ephesians 4:1-24.

Prior to serving as Dean of St. Michael's Cathedral in Boise from 1961-69, Reverend Spofford has served as executive secretary of the Episcopal League for Social Action, 1946-49; Rector of St. Thomas Church in Detroit, Michigan, 1947-50; Vicar of St. James in Payette, 1952-54; Director of the Western Extension Center of National Town-Country Church Institute, 1953-56; supervisory chaplain at Massachusetts General Hospital and McLean Hospital in Boston and Lector in Pastoral Theology, Episcopal Theological School from 1956-61.

Rex D. Colton, Chief of Resources for the Bureau of Land Management's Idaho State Office, announced today the issuance of new procedures regarding off-road-vehicle races and events on national resource lands.

According to Colton, all BLM offices will require a Special Land Use Permit for all commercially sponsored off-road-vehicle races and events in which 25 or more vehicles are involved. "Under the terms of the permit," Colton said, "the BLM will work with sponsors in setting up sites so that there will be minimum environmental impact."

"In addition," Colton added, "the new procedures require liability insurance for the protection of spectators and private property. Sponsors must also post bonds to cover site clean-up and rehabilitation and expected fees. The fees charged for holding a race on national resource lands will be based on the amount of money collected from entrants and spectators."

Colton said it is imperative that any organization planning a commercial race or other ORV event on national resource land should first contact that BLM District Office having jurisdiction over the lands in question at least eighty days prior to the anticipated event.

New Words Reflect Changes in Society

Hundreds of new words have come into the English language in recent years, words that reflect the great changes taking place in our society, particularly among young people, minorities and in the variety of subcultures that have sprung up all over the country.

This serves to complicate the existence of the renowned word arbiters, the editors at Merriam-Webster in Springfield, Mass. who annually analyze and select new words for dictionary entry. And acceptance of these new words in our language is indicated by the fact that they are listed in Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary which has just been published by G. & C. Merriam Co.

Among words included in the new dictionary are: "bummer" which comes from the world of drugs and means an unpleasant experience; "chopper," a customized motorcycle.
