FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

4-H SPRING FAIR JUNE 5 - 8

Plans are well underway for the annual 4-H Spring Fair to be held June 5 through the 8th at Ontario Senior High School. Youth enrolled in 4-H home economics, art, health and miscellaneous projects enter their articles for judging and exhibit Tuesday, June 5.

In addition to exhibiting projects, many youngsters also enter skills contests such as table setting, baking, meal preparation, clothing, and/or knitting. Also, a 4-H member may give an oral presentation using visuals pertaining to a project area. Some 4-H'ers elect to do an educational exhibit or display depicting a certain phase of a 4-H project.

Many of the contests are open to the public with the highlight of the week's activities, a Style Show and tea on Friday, June 8, at 1:30 p.m. Decorations for the Style Show, being planned around a circus theme, will be arranged by the 4-H Empire Builders.

4-H leaders and parents from throughout the county assist the youngsters, register exhibits, and clerk for the judges. Five women from the county are in charge of various sections of the Spring Fair. They are: Shirley Frost, Ontario, chairman of clothing and knitting; Mary Kuwahara, Vale, chairman of food; Sue Kaatz, Ontario, chairman of the miscellaneous division; Barbara Schaffeld, Vale, chairman of the Style Revue; Jan Shell, Nyssa, chairman of clerks.

A 4-H Fair provides opportunities and incentives for members to show others what they have made or done to develop responsibility and self confidence and to learn new skills and better methods by exhibiting and taking part in contests.

The ecologists, genuine and otherwise, in this country are at that point in which they are defeating themselves. They are approaching, if not past, the conservationists, or preservationists, there isn't a thing this nation can do without producing a squawk.

Let's take this state of Idaho for example. A relatively small group of people are trying to convince congress that no more access roads should be built into our forests for logging or anything else. To them mining is a very dirty word and the practice of gouging ore out of the ground should cease. We must stop building power plants which are hydroelectric, use fossilized fuel or are nuclear. We must build no more dams for irrigation of farm land. In fact, according to them, we already have too many farms as it is. If we do farm we must NOT use any insecticides or treat the grain with a chemical. The State of Idaho must have set aside millions more acres of wilderness which are for a mere handful of backpackers.

What does the above amount to? No roads into the forest-no logging no sawmills. No mining-no mills, no phosphate plants. No sources of power, means no expansion of industry, clean or otherwise. No irrigation dams--no increase in farmland and with no chemical treatment of insecticides means a diminishing of production. The point is, if we granted these people all of their desires we wouldn't even have tourists; we would have nothing, especially no jobs.

When you take a look at the no-nos in this country is it any wonder the nation has a high unemployment rate? Theories are essential, but seldom work in practice, too many of the theories bandied around today don't even make common sense.

The question has been asked, "Why is there a hospital in Nyssa?" The logical answer is for the benefit of the people that live in this area. They can receive their treatment closer to home, and their friends and relatives can more easily visit them, thus making their stay in the hospital when necessary, more enjoyable. The original intent of the incorporators, of course, was to save lives.

There are four physicians in the city of Nyssa who are on the staff of the hospital, in addition there are two on the staff from Ontario and one from Vale. The Pathologist is from Nampa,
