

"Where's The Fire?"

Firemen and spectators had no trouble finding this fire in a trash pile north of town on First Street last Sunday, July 29. The fire was quickly controlled by firemen.

For the spectators, however, the search wasn't as rewarding as they thought it would be. Police officers at the scene took the names and license numbers of everyone parked near the blaze. No citations were issued for being there, but anyone who shows up on lists taken at future fires can expect to be cited, according to police officers at the scene.

Black Market Beef Forecast Owyhee Cattlemen's Association Holds Annual Summer Meeting In Silver City

Silver City, Idaho - "Due to government interference price ceilings and other restrictions, American consumers are facing 'black market' beef for the first time since World War II. It has recently come to our attention that some meat wholesalers are resorting to 'under-the-table' deals in beef purchasing. This has come about due to a tremendous beef shortage in the Northwest and throughout the nation," so stated the Executive Vice-President of the Oregon Cattlemen's Association, Donald Ostense. He was speaking to Idaho business leaders and cattlemen at the annual summer meeting of the Owyhee Cattlemen's Association, Saturday noon, Silver City, Idaho (July 28, 1973).

Ostense continued, "Consumers in the Northwest and throughout the nation should be planning on beefless meals in the immediate future, because in a week or ten days there will probably not be any beef at the retail markets. The only way this situation could possibly be helped is for the Cost of Living Council to remove price ceilings on beef immediately, rather than to continue them until September 12, as previously announced. Beef is the only food commodity which the Administration and CLC has singled out for price ceilings. This is a disgrace to cattle feeders and producers throughout the nation. It is quite apparent that the beef industry has become the 'whipped boy' of the administration and the CLC."

"Last Thursday beef industry leaders, representatives of major packing houses and retailers, met with the Cost of Living Council and representatives of the Nixon's Administration. They informed them of the dire consequences of beef shortages and black market manipulation if the price ceilings on beef were not lifted immediately. Their presented case was to no avail, as the request was denied." Ostense further stated, "The cattle feeders and producers have been put in a financial and psychological straight-jacket and meat packers have their choice of closing their doors, buying on the black market or stay in business and continue to lose money. Here are some of the industry's problems: feed costs are more than double today than they were a year ago; removal of DES (diethylstilbestrol) has added 10% to cattle production costs. President Nixon has lifted all restrictions on imported foreign beef; increased costs for cattle to graze on public lands; increased pressures from the environmental protection agencies, plus a host of other restrictive regulations."

A barbecue isn't a barbecue without buttered French bread. Then, if you add sharp Cheddar Cheese and hickory smoked salt you have a real taste treat. This loaf may be frozen ahead to save time and then cook at the time of the barbecue.

There are plenty of apricots in Treasure Valley this year for canning and freezing. I have a special frozen Apricot Jam which I make whenever they're available.

By the way, apricots are one of my favorite fruits whether fresh, canned, dried, or frozen. They're high in Vitamin A and mighty good eating.

- HICKORY CHEESE LOAF
- 1 loaf (1 lb.) French bread
 - 1/2 cup soft butter or margarine
 - 1 cup shredded natural sharp Cheddar cheese (4 ounces)
 - 1 tsp. parsley, cut up
 - 1/2 tsp. hickory smoked salt
 - 2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- Cut bread diagonally into 1-inch slices. Mix remaining ingredients and spread on slices. Reassemble loaf, wrap securely in 28x18 inch piece of heavy-duty aluminum foil, place on grill 4 inches from medium coals. Heat 15 to 20 minutes, turning once. Serves 6 to 8.
- APRICOT-PINEAPPLE JAM
- 2 1/2 cups apricots, ground
 - 1/4 cup lemon juice
 - 3/4 cup crushed pineapple
 - 2 tsp. grated orange rind
 - 1 pkg. powdered pectin
 - 1 cup white corn syrup
 - 6 cups sugar.
- Mix apricots, lemon juice, pineapple, orange rind and pectin. Set aside for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add white syrup and sugar. Stir until sugar is completely dissolved. Pour into freezer containers and freeze. (Peaches may be used instead of apricots.) Makes 4 pints.
