

SAVINGS BOND SALES EXCEED $60 BILLION

Total nationwide holdings of U. S. Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares rose to the record-high level of more than $60 billion in July--representing almost 23 percent of the publicly held portion of the national debt. At the same time, holdings throughout the state were estimated to be approximately $500 million of the $60 billion.

Savings Bonds Chairman for the state, Thomas S. Prideaux, Executive Vice President and Assistant to the President, United States National Bank of Oregon, praised achievement as "great news for the Bond Program and for our people all over Oregon. They know that, when they buy and hold onto their Saving Bonds, they are building a wealth of lasting security for themselves. So they buy through Payroll Savings, or at the bank, and watch their nest eggs grow."

"In these days of perplexing price problems," he added, "when we need to make every dollar count, it is so good to know that there remains no better, no easier, no safer, no surer way to save than through the regular purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds."

"And there is," he continued, "no stronger back-up to my contention than the more than $60 billion outstanding, in the hands of millions of satisfied Americans everywhere."

Announcing this all-time high mark in Bond-Program success, Acting National Director Jesse L. Adams acknowledged the vital role of the volunteer, congratulating State Chairman Prideaux for his role in reaching the new top total in Bond sales.

"Without the dedicated and patriotic cooperation of our State Chairmen for Savings Bonds and their committee associates from associations, banking, business, industry, institutions, labor, and media, this significant success story could not have been written. We are proud," Adams said, "of this outstanding accomplishment by Chairman Prideaux and his colleagues."

Malheur County Bond chairman Jim Leslie reported sales through July of $209,343, which is 62% of the goal for this year.

FAMILY CAMPING DO'S & DON'TS

Whether or not you've ever gone camping before, having on hand the basic camping gear--plus the tips in this article--may make it a lot easier for you to take off for a weekend, or weeks, of outdoor fun.

DO mark up route maps early. The service station may be out of them on the day you plan to leave.

DON'T arrive at night and expect to set up camp in the dark.

DO make sure your tent is long enough for the tallest member of your group.

DON'T expect to find a babbling brook for drinking and washing water wherever you go. Be prepared--carry water with you.

DO bring along a complete first-aid kit, and know how to use it. One good item to include is a can of Rhuilapray, a highly effective treatment for poison ivy and poison oak as well as insect bites, mild sunburn and other minor skin irritations.

DON'T take your complete wardrobe with you. Make a list--then leave half the items behind. Drip-dry synthetic fabrics perform best for most camping purposes, but cotton knit shirts and blouses are cooler for hot spells.

DO pack for convenience. Pack so that when you reach a campsite, first things come out first--the tent and sleeping gear, then the camping equipment, then clothing, etc.

DON'T forget to observe camping etiquette. Open fires should be kept low to avoid sending sparks all over. When you leave the campsite, the fire should be doused with water and every spark extinguished.

DO let someone of authority in the area, like the police or forest ranger, know where you'll be camping out. And know where the nearest physician is in case of an emergency.

DON'T carry clothes in the airtight and potentially dangerous thin film bags that dry cleaners use, especially if you have playful and curious small children. Instead, use heavy transparent plastic zipper bags, which you can see through at a glance.

DO end your vacation on the same note it began--a note pitched for family fun!

Practical savings for practical people.

Take stock in America. New Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.
