Pills and Driving Are Dangerous Mix

Last year more than 55,700 Americans lost their lives in traffic accidents.

This is a reversal of a downward trend in traffic deaths reported in 1970 and 1971. In 1971, the traffic fatality toll was 54,000.

In its annual compilation of street and highway statistics, The Travelers Insurance Companies has noted a new problem—the mixing of drugs and alcohol. These drugs are not in the marijuana to heroin range, but the cold pills, bromides and tranquilizers, a spokesman said.

A person can be taking such drugs for several ailments and acquired from a number of sources. The cumulative effect of the medication when a cocktail or two are added is greater than would be anticipated from any of the drugs taken singly, the spokesman added.

The Travelers booklet, "Speed Kills," is available without charge from any Travelers representative or office as long as the supply lasts.
