Strange Names In Washington

If you're a place-name freak, the place to come is the State of Washington.

And why not do your name collecting on the way to the Expo '74 World's Fair in Spokane from May 4 to Nov. 3?

Up from the south you can visit Mount Horrible or Mount Misery in the Umatilla National Forest.

Over on the west coast you can stop off at Pysht or Useless Bay or Arctic.

Or even Humpulips.

In the southwest part of the state you can visit Dusty (named because it was).

There's George in the center of the state. (And, of course, there's a Martha's Inn in George.)

There's also Pe Ell (which is how the Indians pronounced Pierre, which is what Pierre sounded like to the Indians).

There are plenty of others like these, but if you miss them and you're headed back East, you can always drop into the Idaho town of Good Grief.

Drug Arrests Made

Two Nyssa men will appear in Justice Court January 3, on charges of possession of less than one ounce of marijuana as a result of their arrest this weekend.

Police Chief Alvin Allen reported that those arrested were Guadalupe Grijalva, 21, and Joe Nelson Martinez, 22. The charge is a misdemeanor under Oregon's new criminal code.

THE REAL RACE TIRE?--Actually both. The tire on the left won the 1962 Indianapolis "500" with its half-tread design, while today's choice is the "fat" treadless tire. The tires were the main topic of conversation, as members of the American Trucking Association (ATA) visited with race car driving great Mario Andretti at the Firestone hospitality suite during the recent ATA convention held in Miami.
