Speaking To The Consumer

A RENTER'S GUIDE. When the Oregon State Legislature enacted into law Senate Bill 159, it spelled out rights and responsibilities of both the landlord and the tenant. It says the tenant has the right to a habitable and livable house or apartment—but he has the responsibility of using the dwelling in an appropriate manner, keeping it clean and intact. To obtain further details of this new law and how it affects you, ask your county extension office for a copy of Extension Circular 833, "Landlord and Tenant Rights and Responsibilities."
