RAY NOVOTNY

Good practical research work will be discussed and exhibited during the Beef Cattle Field Day at Squaw Butte, March 26. Many of the practices ranchers have wondered about have and are being checked at the station such as advantages of fall calving, liquid feed supplement feeding, range production forecasting, beef production on irrigated pastures and various ways of altering the male calf for increased efficiency will be discussed at the morning session starting at 10:00 a.m. PDT at the Poison Creek Grange Hall east of Burns.

The afternoon will provide an opportunity to see actual research projects in progress such as crossbreeding on Hereford cows, molasses supplements, spring vs. fall calving cows, feeding cows quality straw with various supplements and mechanics of checking range and pasture forages.

Schafer's mother, Mrs. Lavada Lengen of Boise had a fall and broke her leg. She will have to have it in traction for 21 days before they can set it. Mrs. Schafer is in Boise with her mother at this time.
