Summer is a good time to rejuvenate ideas you routinely pull out every time company comes. Without going a step further you can have some tasty combinations with just a tray of cheese and crackers. Perhaps you've forgotten all about camembert, of French origin and provolone of Italian heritage. These specialty cheeses are both made in the West and they compare favorably with the best cheeses of their class made anywhere else. They're known in the trade as dessert cheeses and traditionally go with plain crackers and fresh fruit. However they serve equally well as an appetizer and go along beautifully with other hot and cold patio party nibbles.

Camembert as shown here in a half moon also comes in small wheels and wedges. The thin crust is edible and the interior texture may be buttery to soft and creamy when fully ripened. Provolone is a semi hard compact cheese which slices easily. It's distinctive flavor varies from mild to sharp and piquant and is usually smoked. Both camembert and provolone should be served at room temperature. Ricotta is another Italian cheese that does well as an appetizer cheese even though it's more often used as an ingredient in hearty robust fare like lasagne. It has a soft, grainy texture. Combined with finely chopped crisp fresh vegetables and canned green chilis, and a bit of oregano and other seasonings, you'll have an excellent dip for chips.

It goes without saying that hot meat balls always go over big. This super recipe for Yogurt Beef Ball Appetizers came to us by way of the Oregon Dairy Products Commission. They are truly delicious.

YOGURT BEEF BALL APPETIZERS

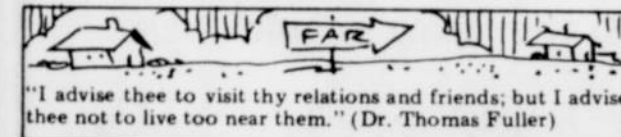

Magnificent yogurt performs beautifully inside these delectable hot hors d'oeuvres as well as for a super sauce to dip them in.

- 1 pound lean ground beef
 - 1 envelope onion soup mix
 - 2 (8-ounce) cartons plain yogurt
 - 1/2 cup fine bread crumbs
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons basil, crumbled
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 tablespoon butter
- Mix beef with 1/2 envelope soup mix, 1/4 cup yogurt, bread crumbs, basil and salt. Form into 1-inch balls. Brown a few balls at a time in butter over medium heat. Blend remaining yogurt with remaining soup mix. Serve hot beef balls on picks with cool yogurt dip. Makes 4 dozen beef balls and 1 1/2 cups dip.

RICOTTA DIP

Oregano and colorful bits of green pepper and radish along with some finely chopped green chilis turn mild sweet ricotta cheese into a racy appetizer.

- 1 pint ricotta cheese
 - 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper
 - 1/4 cup finely chopped green chilis
 - 1/4 cup finely chopped radishes
 - 1 tablespoon minced onion
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 3/4 teaspoon oregano, crumbled
- Combine all ingredients. Serve as dip for raw vegetables and crackers. Makes about 2 1/3 cups.

Hell's Canyon Rodeo At Weiser This Week-end

Idaho's John Davis of Homedale, currently riding for the 1974 world bull riding championship, is expected to be among top professional cowboys entering the Hell's Canyon rodeo in Weiser, May 30-June 1, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

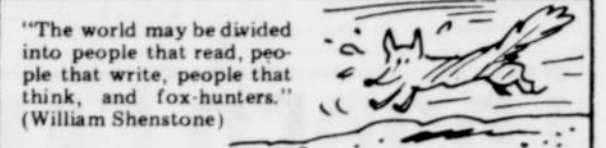

JOHN DAVIS HOMEDALE, IDAHO

Davis recently moved into the lead in the bull riding standings with more than $10,900 in earnings. After joining the Denver-based association in 1972, the 23-year-old cowboy qualified for his first National Finals Rodeo a year later by placing among the top 15 cowboys in that event at season's end. He finished tenth that year with $13,942.

Thursday and Friday night and Saturday afternoon performances at the Rodeo Grounds will feature saddle and bareback bronc riding, bull riding, steer wrestling and calf and team roping, said rodeo chairman Vern Hartnett.

Lions love catnip just as much as house cats do.
