

One TVCC Graduate Receives Highest Honors

One of the 91 graduates of Treasure Valley Community College carried a perfect 4.0 grade point average for the two years she attended the school, the college press office announced today.

Vikki Lee Price of Adrian was the only student this year graduated with highest honors for achieving the perfect grades. For some years, the college has had no "highest honors" graduates.

Eight students received their diplomas with high honors for posting grades between 3.75 and 3.99. They were Joann Cloud, Ronald Cornmesser, Joy Green, Kerry Sholdt and Diane Webster, all of Ontario; Bruce Ishida of Adrian, Linda Turner of Vale and Alvin Zarosinski of Keno, Oregon.

BSU Honors Adrian Student

Nearly one thousand Boise State University students have been named to the Deans List for spring semester 1974.

Altogether 980 BSU students achieved the honors distinction. Broken down by category, the spring term deans list show 340 students attaining highest honors, a GPA of 4.00; 228 students attaining high honors, a GPA of 3.75 to 3.99; and 412 students attaining honors, a GPA of 3.50 to 3.74.

The current number of honors students handily surpassed BSU's previous high of 835 during the fall semester 1973.

insurance. Campers will be departing from Ontario at 10:00 a.m., on Monday, July 15, and return by Thursday evening, July 18.

Although camp is a 4-H activity, all Malheur County youth are invited to participate. A brochure with camp information and registration form has been sent to all enrolled 4-H members.

Additional copies are available from the Extension Office. Due to the large number attending last year, the camp registration and a $10.00 deposit should be returned by June 3 to assure a camper's attending.

BLM Fire Crews Busy

Bureau of Land Management fire crews quelled a five-acre grass fire nine miles southeast of Vale Friday afternoon.

Two pumper trucks were dispatched to the fire adjacent to the Malheur County dump on Lytle Boulevard. Wind probably blew burning debris from the landfill into nearby dry grass, according to chief dispatcher Jerry Erstrom.

BLM officials added that it won't be long before fire danger is critical in the Vale District if present wind and warm weather continue.

OSU Sets Orientation

One-day orientation and advising programs for freshmen entering Oregon State University next fall have been scheduled for Tuesdays and Thursdays, July 9 through 25.

Franz Haun, director of OSU new-student programs, says all incoming first-year freshmen who have been admitted to the university have received information on the summer orientation sessions, and more than 200 students have already made their reservations for one of the July dates.

Parents of new students are also invited. Last summer, nearly 600 fathers and/or mothers accompanied students to participate in sessions arranged especially for them.

While incoming freshmen who do not obtain their orientation and advising in July must participate in the program September 24-25, Haun encourages students to take advantage of the summer program.

By spending one day at OSU in July making their educational plans and registering for fall term classes they save a week in the fall, since they need not return to the campus until September 30, the day before fall term classes begin.

Students and parents who wish to spend the night before or after the summer orientation session on campus may reserve a room in Callahan Hall, according to Haun. Meals will be available in a residence hall.

In spite of inflation, Haun says, the cost to students for the one-day July orientation-advising program has been held to last year's figure of $10. Parent fees are still $5.

Septic Tank Installations Require Permits From County

Permits to construct sewage disposal systems (septic tanks) are now $50.00. This is a non-refundable fee which was set by the last special session of the Oregon Legislature, and enforced by the Oregon Department of Environmental Quality.

Because the permit fee is non-refundable many land owners and developers may pay the $50.00 fee only to have their application for a permit denied. For this reason the County Health Department states that if the applicant is not positive that the lot in question is suitable for subsurface sewage systems, he should apply for a suitability report. This report may be issued for any lot by the county sanitarian's office. The $25.00 fee for this report can be applied toward a septic tank permit, if the applicant still desires a permit after reviewing the suitability report.

Permits for a repair to a septic tank or drainfield will remain at $15.00, with no cost for suitability reports on drainfield repairs.

Residents of the county are cautioned against constructing or hiring someone to construct septic tanks or drainfields without a permit. Failure to have this permit will result in disapproval of sewerage systems at all homes built after January 1, 1974 for F. H. A. or V. A. Loan purposes. The owner and the installer is also liable for civil penalties without the permit and satisfactory completion state m e n t s. Questions should be directed to the county sanitarian located in the Health Department at the County Courthouse in Vale, Oregon. The number to call is 473-3189.

Hines-Burns Section To Go Four Lanes

The Oregon Transportation Commission has selected 52 highway improvement projects to be financed with $25 million of the $150 million highway bonds approved for sale during the last legislative session.

The 52 projects - which range from the installation of traffic signals or left-turn lanes to the four-laning of parts of major state highways - are located throughout the state.

All of the projects are expected to be contracted prior to July 1, 1975. The state plans to sell the initial $25 million in bonds within the next few months. Construction on many of the projects will begin shortly after the bonds are sold.

One of the projects scheduled by the Transportation Commission as part of the initial funding list is within District 14, which includes Harney and Malheur Counties. The project is estimated to cost $850,000. The total allocation to District 14 from the $150 million package is $4,140,000.

The project selected by the Commission is identified as the Number 1 project on the list submitted by the Southeast Oregon Council of Governments:

1) Four-lane the existing highway on the Hines-Burns Section of the Central Oregon Highway.

Expo '74 Attendance Exceeds Expectations

Attendance during the first week of Expo '74 proved that the fair is much more popular than projections indicated it would be.

Opening Day, May 4 drew 85,151 visitors. The second day, a Sunday, drew 38,227. Average the next five week days was about 20,800. Total for the week was 227,123.

Thpt's nearly 5 per cent of the total of the 4.8 million visitors Expo's organizers expected during the six-month run of the fair.

Expo had expected to attract about 10 per cent of the total-480,000-during the month of May. But early high attendance made them optimistic that they would reach 10 per cent within the first 18 or 20 days.

"Expo is really a strong attraction," said General Manager Peter L. Spurney. "If the trend continues, we'll easily surpass our original projections."

Helping boost the totals, of course, were the number of season (110,000) and one-day (550,000) sold before the fair opened, but gate sales (including sales of season tickets) were also brisk.
