Speaking To The Consumer

WATCH THE INTEREST. Would you overlook a chance to save $500? Lots of people do just that. They include consumers who compare dealer prices carefully when they buy a car, but don't shop around for credit. They don't get the loan with the lowest annual percentage rate, and this mistake can make the difference of as much as $500. So if you buy an item on credit, spend the time to shop for low cost interest.

Everstop to think?--What you think of yourself doesn't count unless you can prove it.
