A jolly crowd of the number of about 150 attended the apron social at the public library room Tuesday evening. The merry makers began arriving at 7:30 and as fast as they stepped into the room were grabbed by some member of the reception committee and measured around the waist to determine the amount the victim would be charged for supper, one cent per inch being the standard price. Dancing and other forms of merrymaking were indulged in and at 10 o'clock a delicious lunch was served cafeteria style.

60 YEARS AGO

Just why Snake River should rise a couple of feet in November, as it did last Wednesday, is causing much speculation among the town wisecracks. Something of that kind is expected in the merry springtime, when snows are melting and rains are adding to the waters, but even the oldest inhabitant cannot remember when the usually staid and sober old river went on a tear in November before. Will Graves and Ed Albertson, who are placer mining and trapping on the river above town, lost a perfectly good boat when the water came up and floated the craft away, and they are willing to pay a liberal reward for the return. The theory is advanced as a solution of the phenomenon that the waters from some big irrigation systems on the upper Snake had been allowed to spill into the river.
