Manuel Perez Makes Naval Academy Wrestling Team

Manuel Perez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Perez, 108 Ehrgood, is home for the Christmas holidays from the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland. Manuel is a 1974 graduate of Nyssa High School, and will complete his first semester at the academy in late January.

of plebes by upperclassmen is no longer physical, but Manuel said he can recite several poems and appropriate Naval literature, and for the most part it is all good natured.

Keith was also home for the holidays, visiting with his parents and family, the Don

The only plebe (freshman) on the Naval Academy varsity wrestling squad, Manuel said that the wrestling program in Oregon (and Nyssa) is superior to what he has seen in the east. He cited the case of a two-time state champion from Virginia who couldn't make the squad.

Manuel is wrestling with the plebe squad in interschool matches. He challenged the varsity wrestler at his weight, but couldn't beat him. His only match outside of practice was with Slippery Rock, and he lost to a man who was second in the NCAA Tournament last year.

Grades are no problem, Manuel said, and his courses include History of Sea Power, Calculus, Chemistry, Naval Science, Computer Science and English. He has two room mates, one from Castro Valley, California and the other from Wilmington, Delaware. He was a house guest of the latter after the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia.

Manuel said that he visits with Keith Oldemeyer occasionally, and if Keith shakes hands, Manuel doesn't have to call him "sir". The hazing

Director To Speak At Banquet

Shelia J. Sandy, Consumer Foods Director of the Frozen Potato Products Institute, will be the featured speaker at the January 10 banquet concluding the Malheur County Potato Growers annual meeting held at VIP's Restaurant in Ontario.

Miss Sandy will discuss the overall Frozen Potato Products Institute program and consumer reaction to processed foods during this time of high food prices, and answer the question: "Are Frozen Potato Products a Bargain?"

As Consumer Foods Director, Miss Sandy's food expertise is primarily involved in consumer education programs that help the shopper buy wisely and cook creatively.

She has devoted herself to food throughout her ten-year professional career which followed her graduation in 1965 from West Virginia University with a degree in Home Economics, and has done graduate work at San Diego State University.

Is her interest in food strictly professional? Of course not. Her favorite pastime is planning and preparing special party menus when she entertains small groups of friends in her apartment in Chicago's near north side. And on the rare occasions when she's not thinking of food, golf, tennis, travel and theater and her other "favorite things."
