I was telling George all the stuff we'd done lately that I should write about and he said I should write about different people and not the same ones all the time. So I got out the phone book and started to call a few folks I hadn't seen for awhile.

It isn't easy to find people home around here. They're out milking cows, shopping, visiting relatives, or some have even gone to work! Don't believe that unemployment stuff. Folks around here find plenty to do.

Like, George has spent the past six weeks on income taxes and his past years' bookkeeping. In-between times he feeds and waters
