Horse Clinic Saturday

Plans are completed for the Horseman's Clinic which is scheduled Saturday, April 19 at the Shamrock Arena in Vale. The event is sponsored by the Snake River Riders and will begin at 9 a.m.

Demonstrations by professional trainers will help with fitting and showing using the cavaletti in basic training, snaffle bit training, shoeing and the finished reining horse.

Tack and a fashion review are scheduled during the potluck luncheon at the Vale Elementary School. Admission is one dish to serve six for each family. Those attending are asked to bring their own tableservice.

Demonstrations will be given by Lenore Johnson, Marcia Jeffs, R. T. Blackburn, Pat Smith and Kitty Riley.

Mrs. Johnson a former jockey and trainer is co-owner of Starlite Arabians at Nampa with her husband. She showed the championship mare and reserve championship stallion at the Western Idaho State Fair in 1974. Their stallion Brillanz, which she conditions and shows, has qualified for the National Halter Class.

Miss Jeffs is an English riding major, graduating from Meridith Manor School back East. She is an instructor of English riding at TVCC and is a horse trainer.

R. T. Blackburn is a Vale horse trainer and professional horseshoe'er and has ridden winners in several stock horse classes and snaffle bit futurities in Nevada. He had the Nevada State championship trail and barrel horses and Reserve World Championship trail horse.

Pat Smith has trained 12 American Quarter Horse Association champions, judged state final rodeos in 1973 and was Northwest Reining Champion in 1959-60. One of his champions was trained from start to finish in 3 months.

Mrs. Riley of the Saddle Tree in Ontario was active in 4-H in Washington. She judged 4-H for six years in Washington and is recognized as a National Appaloosa Association Judge. She is also a recognized steward for the Washington Horseman's Association. Mrs. Riley is a graduate of Washington State University.
