First and last, Alice Nishitani is a musician, so when she was scheduled two spots on the Sunday morning program at church, the ultimate in good music was expected, received and we loved every minute of it.

For the first two numbers she accompanied herself at the piano, and the accompaniment almost surpassed her singing in its beauty. She sang "The Old Rugged Cross Made the Difference" and "Roll, Jordan, Roll."

For her second appearance she used, as accompaniment, a recording of herself playing and singing. These, "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled" and "Lord Jesus, Come" were more classical by nature and gave the richness and perfection of her vocal abilities fuller scope.

In all, her clear, bell-like tones and the pure oriental charm of her face and manner, and the message of the songs made her performance a delight to all.

Reverend Bob's leaving the area and United Methodist Church at Nyssa and going into the work of an Evangelist, he has said. He preached his last sermon for us Sunday morning and told us his message has been the same from the beginning, the pure Gospel, stated in dozens of different ways.

There was a farewell gathering for him at the church Friday night at which Mr. Dale Adams and Miss Pattie Seuell each sang two numbers and this writer read a paper telling of some of the little things we would remember Bob by. A few paragraphs from that paper are inserted here.

The group, in recognition of Bob's love for ice cream socials, had cake and home-made ice cream for refreshments. A money tree was presented to Rev. and Mrs. Hutchinson.

Someone said that change is the essence of happiness. When everything has gone on smoothly for some time, any change is welcomed by some. Like earthquake, fire, flood....

Reverend Bob was the sudden change to come to the Nyssa Methodist Church in some time. Don't think even (or especially) he knew how much of a change.

Take our annual ice cream social for example. He entered the picture first as an ice cream taster, the night folks met in the kitchen to make that luscious commodity. He wouldn't stay long, nor partake of the little chores the others were doing.

But each time he looked in, it was with an offer to taste the ice cream. He solemnly let it be known that this was his serious, self-imposed duty. By the time the evening was over, he was indifferent to the offer of a dishful of ice cream, having eaten his fill, a taste at a time.

The day of the ice cream social, another innovation. Entertainment. He invited in Gospel singing groups to entertain and inspire the crowd. It really was an improvement. But of course, we'd never done it before....

The Nyssa Ministerial Association felt his impact, and, deciding to put his enthusiasm to work, had him serve as their president for two years. Under his leadership the ministers became organized as chaplains for the hospital and the "Chaplain of the Week" program was instituted.

They say they've a powder-blue chaplain's blazer, somewhat larger than the rest, left to be filled when Bob leaves. Some pastor will just have to be fattened up to fit it!

Housing for Senior Citizens was another of Bob's projects. His loving concern for the sick and elderly was reflected in the many hours he spent visiting in the hospital.

All detailed plans for Nyssa's new grade school addition and combination hot lunch, shop and music room are expected to be completed by August 1, after which bids will be called for construction of the two buildings according to Superintendent R. V. Wilson.

The "gas war" that has been fought in Nyssa for nearly four months came to an end Monday when gasoline prices returned to 33.2 cents for regular and 35.5 cents for Ethyl. Those prices are prevailing throughout the Snake River Valley.

Having a $50 set of teeth stolen right from under the very nose is no fun, according to C. W. Long. The other night he laid his teeth carefully aside but in the morning they were gone. Searching carefully about the premises he found a pack rat cache including many articles missing for a long time, but the cache did not include the missing grinders. However, he is still looking and when he finds the guilty rat it is apt to be too bad for the furry thief.

Mr. Cole, the jeweler, attended a roping and branding exhibition at the Ward Ranch this week which he describes as thrilling. Horses from two to five years old that had never had a rope on, were roped and furnish hair-raising exhibitions of equine fury. Under the skillful handling of bronco busters, however, they were forced to submit to being handled. Mr. Cole became so enthused with the sport that he joined wholeheartedly in the mix up.

Born—At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Newby, a five-pound boy to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ward on Monday, June 22. The youngster has been named Corley Earl Ward. Mother and son are doing fine.
