Adrian Teacher Marriage Enrichment Course Starts Oct. 9

Jerry Huntley

A series of meetings intended to help people better understand some of the common concerns in marriage relationship, will be held in Malheur County in October and early November.

Pre-registration for the Marriage Enrichment series is required by October 6 according to Helen Conner, Extension Home Economist. Persons interested may call the Extension Office 889-9129 or write to the Extension Office in Ontario City Hall.

Marcelle Straatman, Oregon State University Extension Human Development Specialist will be guest speaker at several of the meetings.

Couples or individuals may participate in the free series, which will be held on Thursday evenings, October 9, 16, 23, 30 and November 6 at the Library in Ontario.

The series will focus on marriage expectations, changing sex roles, communication, love and sharing and caring sexually.

these horses. They went through Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana and visited historic and picturesque New Orleans. They returned via Texas and New Mexico.

Huntley took 15 rolls of slides in which he hopes his students will benefit.

Mrs. Conner said, the series is based on the premise that if marriage is to be a satisfying, growth producing experience, then energy, knowledge, skill, commitment and time need to be expended to make continuously challenging decisions.

The topic was suggested by the Malheur Extension Program Planning Committee.
