Bulldogs Enjoy Good Season

The Nyssa Bulldogs have completed another successful football season and we commend them for a good job. Had it not been for a succession of injuries to key, experienced performers we might well have gone into the game with Vale Friday evening undefeated. As it was, the boys played exceptionally well, and we salute the Vikings as a team which will represent District 7 very well.

Many football fans have come to realize that the calibre of play in our league equals that played almost anywhere. Both Nyssa and Vale beat Vallivue, who are SRV champs and Idaho play-off winners so far. Likewise, they both won over Ontario, which plays in AAA competition, and has won games in their league. The Bulldogs only losses were by one touchdown each in an exceptionally competitive league.

Coaches Art Bullock and Max Brittingham are to be congratulated on molding a team that played hard-nosed, exciting football. To the 20 seniors who played their last game for Nyssa last Friday, we congratulate each of you, and you will be missed next year.

On the surface, losing 20 seniors would be a tough blow to any squad. We can take heart for next year by the fact that our seventh grade, eighth grade, freshman and junior varsity teams all had winning seasons. Coaches Vernon Lords, Dennis Savage, Gerald Talbot and Glenn Walker are each to be congratulated. Good coaching and a winning spirit keeps the pipeline filled, insuring good competition at the varsity level.

While handing out accolades, we would also like to congratulate Coaches Jerry Huntley and Dan Wilson and their Adrian team, which also had a winning season and gave the Adrian fans a lot of thrills and good football over the season.

Reflecting on the Nyssa-Vale game, it represented high school competition at its very best. Good crowds on both sides of the field, bands and school spirit, and exceptionally good football. We have observed close rivalries in other areas, and too often the teams were more interested in inflicting physical injury rather than skill on the field. Not so in the intense inter-school rivalry between Nyssa and Vale, where the athletes do their best on the field and shake hands when the game is over. That's the way it should be.

Football still has a couple of months to go at the college and professional level, but high school fans can now look forward to the basketball season. We predict another very good season for Coach Gerald Talbot and his Bulldogs.

First National Offers New Savings Account

First National Bank of Oregon announced that it has offered a new savings account service for businesses beginning November 10.

The new service allows corporations, partnerships, and other profit-making organizations to deposit up to $150,000 in savings accounts which earn interest at 4 1/2 per cent per annum, computed daily and paid quarterly. Authorized company representatives can transfer funds from commercial checking accounts to regular savings accounts by telephone or in person.

According to bank officials, the new service is intended primarily to help small and medium-sized businesses maximize the return on funds which would otherwise be idle.

Business savings accounts will be available at any of First National's 142 state-wide branch offices.

Thieves, Vandals Plague Nyssa Police

The theft of rifles and tools from vehicles parked in Nyssa has been reported to Nyssa Police and is under investigation.

Felipe Brito, Nyssa, stated that two hunting rifles, valued at about $300, were taken from his vehicle.

Mechanics tools owned by Mike Carmen and valued at $75 were taken from his vehicle.

Both thefts were reported early Wednesday morning, November 5. Police said both vehicles were parked in the same area.

An undetermined amount of cash was taken Friday night, November 7, in a burglary of the M&W Market according to Police Chief Alvin Allen.

He said the incident was discovered at 7:30 a.m., Saturday when the market was opened for business.

There was no sign of forced entry and police believe someone hid in the building when it closed Friday. The cash was rolled coinage.

Other vandalism over the weekend was reported by three residents who were the victims of tire slashings on Saturday night.

At the Bill Wahlert residence, two tires were slashed

Russell Leininger reported that he had six tires slashed and Dr. L. A. Maulding lost three tires in the same way.

Joaquin Rios, 23, Nyssa, was arrested on a charge of shoplifting at the M&W Market on Sunday. He posted $53 bail and will appear in Municipal Court.

Mario Soto, 25, Parma, was arrested on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He appeared in police court and was fined $255.

A 17-year-old juvenile was arrested Sunday on charges of being a minor in possession of alcoholic beverage. He was released to his parents and will appear in Juvenile Court.

Douglas Flowers, Parma, reported a broken window in his car and the theft of a CB radio, tape deck and 24 tapes while parked at the Sugar Bowl Tuesday evening.

Mike William Jones, 19, Nyssa, was arrested Tuesday evening on a charge of drug promotion. He was arraigned Wednesday morning (press-time).

There will be a prize for the room that has the most visitors.

DO IT BETTER

LETTER TO EDITOR

Editor, The Journal:
 Thursday night I attended a Town Meeting where Nyssa's garbage situation was discussed. After hearing the discussions, I found I must have time to reflect on the various arguments presented before I could make a logical decision.

It seems the word "mandatory" was the main bone of contention between accepting or rejecting the Proposed Garbage Ordinance 454 which states "Mandatory perishable garbage collection". The word "Mandatory" is defined by Webster as obligatory or constituting a duty. Thus defined, I do feel it is my duty to accept the recommendation of the Council for a Mandatory Garbage Collection to make it the responsibility of all Nyssa residents to pay for keeping our city clean.

Further, I feel it should be possible for anyone to be excused from participation if he does not in fact need the service and can maintain his property in an acceptably clean condition without it. Sincerely, Fred A. Robinson

Editor, The Journal:
 On behalf of millions of children who suffer lung-damaging diseases and the Malheur County chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, I say "thank you" to the people of Nyssa and Adrian.

So many people contributed generously—not only in dollars but in valuable time and effort. The newspapers and the radio stations have shown interest in reporting the plight of children and the efforts of the Breath of Life Campaign to help them.

This year's goal for Nyssa was $293 and we raised a total of $350. This money is used to support programs of assistance and education to help our national programs of research. Remember 81% of this money goes for research to find a cure or control for Cystic Fibrosis and to develop better care for children with lung damaging disease. We can also be encouraged that C/F children are living longer, more productive lives; and children with diseases like asthma, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis and other lung damaging diseases are being treated with increasing effectiveness.

Our progress is worthy of recognition and pride and we thank all of our friends in Nyssa and Adrian for making it possible.

We would like to say a special thank you to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hill of Payette who donated a Mist-O-Gen to the Ontario hospital for use in the new respiratory unit. Edna Lee Stam, Chairman Malheur County Chapter Cystic Fibrosis Foundation

Episcopal Diocese Vote In Favor Of Ordination Of Women

The Episcopal Diocese of Eastern Oregon voted 67 to 19 in favor of the Ordination of women to the priesthood during the fifth Annual Convention in The Dalles last weekend.

The issue was passed as a resolution to be taken to the Church's national Convention in September of 1976. The vote was taken by orders with the priests and deacons voting 14 Yes to 4 No, and the lay delegates voting 53 Yes to 15 No.

In his message to the Convention, the Rt. Rev. William B. Spofford, Jr., bishop of the Diocese of Eastern Oregon, presented a "Do-it-yourself" Charge. He asked everyone to establish the on-going mission and ministry of one's self, and one's congregation, and the total household of Eastern Oregon, understood in the context of a national and world-wide church.

Bishop Spofford asked Episcopalians to be involved with the hunger crisis, religious education, stewardship, the Gospel, ecumenical unity, personal renewal, commitment, and to have a corporate and individual purpose.

The Rt. Rev. John R. Wyatt, Bishop of Spokane, was the discussion leader and led the Saturday worship service.

Attending the Convention as delegates from St. Paul's Episcopal Church here in Nyssa were David and Barbara Sarazin, together with the Rev. Letitia Croom and the Rev. Warren Sapp.

Hannah's Hassels

For help call or write to Hannah at Information and Referral Service, 889-7651 or P.O. Box 799, Ontario, Oregon 97914.

Dear Hannah: I've lost our government! I've needed to phone some government agency. I looked for Social Security—They weren't in the phone book. Tuesday I needed the health service. They've disappeared from the phone book. And now today, I looked for the cemetery in Ontario. It's gone too. Has our government disappeared? Lost Lilly

Dear Lost: Our government hasn't disappeared; not even from the phone book. Government agencies, federal, state, county and city are listed together under, "Government" in the yellow pages. Social Security would be under "Government", "United States", "Ontario", "Public Health Services would be under "Government", "County", "Vale". The cemetery would be under "Government", "City" and "Ontario". If you still can't find them, I'd be glad to help at Information & Referral at 889-7651. So relax! I found Uncle Sam, and he's alive and relaxed and struggling.

Hammer and Nixon

by John F. McManus

Belmont, Massachusetts — On October 1, a man named Armand Hammer pleaded guilty in federal court to a charge of making illegal contributions to former President Richard Nixon's 1972 reelection campaign. Dr. Hammer, board chairman and president of the Occidental Petroleum Corporation, had concealed a gift of $54,000, in violation of a 1972 federal law that requires publication of the identity of large contributors to political campaigns. (Prior to the effective date of that law, he had already given the Nixon campaign the first $46,000 of a $100,000 pledge.) Obviously, Dr. Hammer had some powerful reason for keeping his support for Nixon quiet.

Most Americans know that Richard Nixon enjoyed a reputation as an anti-Communist. He achieved it through his highly publicized but actually minor role in the exposure of Alger Hiss in the late 1940s. On the strength of that single act and a great deal of rhetoric, Richard Nixon was catapulted into a prominence that carried him all the way to the White House. Close watchers of the former President, however, have never been fooled by Nixon's anti-Communist image. The real Nixon was revealed to increasing numbers of Americans after he became President, as he blazed a trail to one Communist-Socialist goal after another. It was Nixon who brought legitimacy to Mao Tse-tung; who engineered fantastic increases in the size and reach of the federal government; who gloried in our shameful capitulation in Southeast Asia, and who delegated enormous power to Henry Kissinger and a host of other left-leaning appointees.

No, Richard Nixon was never a real anti-Communist. But for some who might require additional evidence to support our view, we suggest a look into the background of Nixon-contributor Armand Hammer. It is highly significant that this man would go to such lengths to help the man with the anti-Communist image. For Armand Hammer has been a lifelong pro-Communist.

Who Is Armand Hammer?

Seventy-seven-year-old Armand Hammer is the son of Dr. Julius Hammer, a close friend of Soviet dictator Lenin and a founder of the American Communist Party. In 1921 the senior Hammer sent Armand to Russia, where he was warmly received by the Bolshevik leader. Young Armand had brought along large shipments of goods needed to sustain the revolution. In return, he was given a monopoly in pencil manufacturing, an operation that netted him over $1 million in profits the very first year. Lenin later inscribed a portrait of himself to "Comrade Armand Hammer," as evidence of his affection. Hammer stayed on in the Soviet Union until 1931. During this period he amassed a fortune by gathering the priceless art treasures that had been stolen from the Russian aristocracy by the Communists. He then took his fortune out of Russia — he was one of very few able to do so — and made additional millions producing whiskey and raising livestock in the United States. In 1957, he acquired the Occidental Petroleum Corporation. In recent years, he has befriended Khrushchev and Brezhnev, while becoming the largest beneficiary of the tax-supported U.S. trade that keeps the Reds in business.

An Important Point

The point we wish to stress about all of this is that this notorious pro-Communist, a friend and agent of every Soviet dictator and a beneficiary of Red tyranny, obviously wanted to keep Richard Nixon in the White House. This is the story that ought to be headlined, not the mere fact of Hammer's violation of a campaign contribution law. But don't waste time looking for this story elsewhere, because you won't find it. The Nixon policies that so appealed to Dr. Hammer are being continued by President Ford, and the American people have been told that such perfidy is progress.
