

STUDENTS IN THE AMERICAN LITERATURE class at Adrian High School recently completed a nine weeks Bicentennial project which consisted of hand made items and cooking.

Sachio Hori holds a Conestoga Wagon he made as his part of the project and Pam Gray models a Bicentennial dress she stitched. Mr. and Mrs. Washington in the foreground was made by Cherrie Phelps with pop bottles and the dip and drape method.

THIS FLAG WAS MADE AS A Bicentennial project by Cindy Conant at Adrian High School. It was constructed by the "stitch witchery" method. Teacher Mrs. Dorothy Phelps and student Monty Culbertson were kind enough to pose for this picture in the absence of Cindy.

Adrian Students Finish Project

In the Spirit of 1776, Adrian High School students in the American Literature class of Mrs. Dorothy Phelps made several articals and baked goodies in the Bicentennial Theme. Old family recipes dating back 100 to 200 years old were used, others were gathered from library books.

Mrs. Phelps said the students started out working for grades but became so enthusiastic, it snowballed into a fun project with many professional looking items and interesting recipes. As a climax to the project, Charlie Culbertson gave an interesting talk last Friday morning, on "How It Used To Be," covering a span of 50 years.

Items made by students and displayed in the class room were: Conestoga Wagon, Sachio Hori; Bicentennial dress, Pam Gray; Mr. and Mrs. Washington, Cherrie Phelps; Corn Husk Dolls, Lynn Witty and Gloria Lorenzen; Model of May Flower, Gus Sillonis and Johnny Simpson; Model of Robert E. Lee, Mississippi River Boat, Jed Chamberlain; Model of Fort Boise made with tooth picks, David Pratt; First American Flag, 1776, Cindy Conant.

Culinary arts displayed and sampled by the class were: Sour Dough Chocolate Cake, Gay Bennett; New Meadows Inn Cookies and Orange Fool, 1747, Clara Fujikawa; Cabbage Bread, Kris Carlock; Boston Cream Pie, Regina Sillonis; National Cake (Red-White-Blue) Sandra Findley; Ginger Cookies, 1875, Mary Conklin; Whole Wheat Bread Cindy Ingram; Boston Brown Bread, Mary Carroll Roberts.
