

25th Anniversary Feted

MR. AND MRS. RON ZERBEL of the Ridgeview area celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary New Years Eve. The couple have been residents of the Adrian-Nyssa area since 1959.

Snake River Aviation Company hosted the Hangar party at the Adrian airport, and guests included 78 customers and friends of the Zerbels.

Also attending the celebration were their daughters, Debbie Zikmund, Karen Mita and their husbands and Vanessa Zerbelt.

Entertainment was provided by the "Adrian Cats". Cocktails and buffet were served throughout the evening.

Sage of Nu Acres

By Lyn Dohner

The January meeting of the Town and Country Garden Club was called off, due to snow, ice and dangerous traveling conditions. So disappointed. Worked and planned for a week on it. Wanted the joy of entertaining those particularly nice friends. Even my houseplants were perky and looking their best.

Oh well. Baked George an apple pie. Had a nap. And played scrabble. Oh, Hey, have you discovered how wonderful apple pie is re-heated? Lots better than cold out of the frig.

We re-activated our perquack game. It's with words, like scrabble, but doesn't get you all tied up in a hopeless situation with no place to play at the last. Of course, our adding a bunch of extra letters from another set and playing with nine instead of seven letters could be blamed for that.

Mrs. Alice Pulsipher called to joyfully announce the birth of two new granddaughters. The first came November 28 to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Fry in Parma, and is named Ashley. The latest was born January 8 in Omaha, Nebraska to Mr. and Mrs. Maury Fokken, and is called Jamie Jeanette. Her mother is the former Lela Fry.

Seems grandsons outnumber granddaughters two to one among Mrs. Pulsipher's grandchildren, so girls are extra special.

Mrs. Pulsipher and son Jesse Fry attended a wrestling match at the Fruitland High school last Friday night. She asked that her phone number be mentioned, as, she said, it came out wrong in the directory and she wants her friends to call her! Her number is 674-2076.

Last time we'd news here about Mrs. Pulsipher, she was in the nursing home recovering from a broken hip.

she'd received in an accident. Well, seems her daughter, Mrs. Clair Beus, of Othello, Washington, came and took her to another daughter's home in Ellensburg, Washington, Mrs. George Grossman, and there she stayed until the two sisters brought her home again in December in order to attend the wedding reception of her grandson, and their nephew, Randy Jenkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Payne and Francis Cammann were dinner guests in Eagle Friday night in the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Steilman.

Mrs. Reva Haley had a housefull of family when her five sons, two daughters and four grandchildren gathered home to attend their father's funeral in New Plymouth, Coming furtherest was Arthur Haley who is currently stationed with the Navy at Corpus Christi, Texas.

We're still snowed in here. George ran the tractor up and down the road out to make tracks for the mailman and the paper carrier.

Mrs. Cecil Evans said she and Cecil drove to Meridian last night to attend a lay Witness meeting and that from Parma on the road was clear and bare and the rain was pouring down. Strange how the climatic circumstances make such abrupt changes in this area. Whatever the weather is now, just get a little rest if you're snowed in and know for sure, it will change.

VFW To Meet

The VFW Post No. 2697 will meet Thursday, tonight, January 15 at the Nyssa Eagles Hall at 8 p.m.

All eligible veterans wishing to join are invited to attend.

GRANGE NEWS

CWA

Members of the CWA Club of Oregon Trail Grange met Tuesday, January 6, at the home of Orma Cleaver. The meeting was called to order by Chairman Lois Boenig. Roll call found twelve members present.

Plans were discussed for dinners to be served January 14 and 15 to Co-op and Seed Growers members and for lunch to be served at an auction sale January 17. Plans for the Grange pancake supper to be held Saturday, January 24 were also discussed.

Several beautiful hand-made quilts were displayed by Marguerite King during the program period. Refreshments were served by Co-hostess Thelma Parr.

The next CWA meeting will be held February 3, at the home of Clara Price with Lois Boenig as co-hostess. There will be a 50c Valentine exchange. The devotional will be led by Sadie Metcalf. All Grange women are welcome.

Community

Concert Slated

The Malheur Community Concert Association will present a concert by the Albert McNeil Jubilee Singers on Sunday, January 18 at 3 p.m. in the Ontario High Auditorium. The 14-member group sings a vast repertoire of "Afro-American" music ranging from calypso of the Caribbean; tribal music of the earliest slaves; spirituals and the jazz and gospel of more recent years. The Jubilee Singers have become one of America's finest exponents of the rich and vital body of music that is such an integral part of the black experience. Admission to all Community Concerts is by membership only.

Amity Women Meet

The Amity Club met Thursday, January 8, with Mrs. Solon Lewis as hostess.
