40 YEARS AGO

It's just an old frame building, 41 years old and much the worse for wear, but if those walls could talk they could tell of happy laughter of children now grown to manhood and womanhood; it could tell of prayer meetings and song. It could tell of the tears shed when loved ones departed; joy and comfort as the Lord's message echoed from those walls.

Those same timbers sheltered a little family for years and later the rafters rang with the blows on the smithy's anvil. Now it is going on its way, going into the new project to make a home for the O. E. Butler family on Main and Third St.

The timbers were fresh and new 41 years ago when District 26 proudly proclaimed it as its first school house. The teacher in the one room school located just west of town on the Tensen 40 acre tract was Miss Lulu Smith. School directors were D. R. Ehrgood, G. G. Brown and Henry Adams. James Duncan was clerk.

For six years the remodeled building served faithful as a church. For a number of years it served as a home for the H. Sharp family, who also conducted a small general store in the front part of the structure. Next the building was made into a blacksmith shop and for some time Frank Leuck conducted his business there. It served as a service station for S. Jordan and later Pete Dear used the building for a car wrecking establishment.

For the past few years the building has been empty and the building which was Nyssa's first school house, first church, business establishment and home; was used this winter to house a team of mules. Such is life.

50 YEARS AGO

A bunch of Nyssa people spent a pleasant evening at Long's pond skating Tuesday evening.

George W. Cox, pioneer of Malheur County, died at his home in Riverside on the evening of December 25, 1925. The family had spent a happy Christmas together and at the close of the day his spirit slipped quietly away to the eternal happiness on the Other Side.

College of Idaho Art Students on Field Trip

The DeYoung Museum, a Japanese Tea Garden and the Legion of Honor are just a few of the places that will be visited by 19 College of Idaho students participating in the 1976 San Francisco Art Field Trip January 24-31.

During the week-long trip the students will visit art galleries and museums, attend a theatrical production of "Snoopy" and hear the San Francisco Symphony's presentation of Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 9 and Mahler's Symphony No. 10.

The field trip follows three weeks of intensive study in art appreciation, and art history and form. A week-long art seminar will be held after the trip and students will then write a final paper for the course, which is one of the college's special winter session offerings.

Accompanying the students on the trip will be Robert Max Peter, professor of art at the college and head of the Humanities and Fine Arts Department.

Among local students participating in the field studies project is Mary Looney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Looney, Adrian, a Junior, majoring in History; and Miriam Kunkel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kunkel, Nyssa, a Sophomore majoring in Pre-Medicine.

Wins Award

At USC Medical School at Los Angeles, California, during the summer of 1975, there were 25 students who had finished their first year and did research projects. Each student had to write a paper on their project.

Out of the 25 papers written by the students, nine of the students of the group were selected to give oral reports during the beginning of their second year.

A young man won first place, receiving $300.00. Sig Linda Jacobson, a granddaughter of Mrs. Marie Moore of Newell Heights, won second place and received an award of $200.00. The Department is hoping to have their two papers published at a later date.
