Hondo-Morinaka Repeat Vows In Burley Christian Church

Patricia Hondo and Noble Morinaka, Jr. pledged their vows to one another in an afternoon ceremony at the Burley First Christian Church on Saturday, November 29, 1975. The rites were performed by the Reverend Leman Messley before an altar flanked with spiraling candelabras and cascading bouquets of yellow spider mums and eucalyptus boughs. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hondo of Burley, Idaho. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Noble Morinaka, Sr. of Nyssa, Oregon.

The bride and her father approached the altar as flutist, Kristie Fife, accompanied by Mrs. Dick Harper, played "Meditation From Thais." Her floor-length wedding gown was designed and created by her mother from ecrú polyester satin crepe. The empire waistline, square neckline and bishop sleeves were highlighted with wedding ring lace. A train extended from the shirred back waist. The train and gown front were trimmed with hand applied white lace motifs with pearl accents. The veil, also created by her mother, was designed from a white lace mantilla obtained by the bride several years ago while attending summer school in Mexico. She also wore a pearl necklace brought from Japan by her grandfather, Mr. T. M. Hondo, an heirloom opal ring from her grandmother Ishino's family, a silver bracelet from her father, and diamond earrings borrowed from her mother. Completing the bride's attire was her bouquet which featured a variegated spider plant nestled amid yellow roses and spider mums.

Matron of Honor was Shirley Murata, Ontario, cousin of the bride. Bridesmaids were Kris Hondo, cousin of the bride, and Debi Hondo, sister-in-law of the bride, both of Burley; and Suzanne Sasai, niece of the groom, Monterey Park, California. Their floor-length dresses were made from complementary polyester fabrics in forest green and a petite print. The graceful A-line style was accented with a gently draped cape collar. Each carried a bouquet of yellow mums surrounding a single green spider plant.

Sally Jo Sasai, niece of the groom, Monterey Park, California and Cara Gonzales, cousin of the bride, Riverton, Nyssa, were flower girls. Their long sleeveless dresses were of similar design and of the same floral print fabric as the bridesmaids' dresses. Each carried a wicker basket filled with yellow mums. They were escorted by rose bearers, Dewayne and Brooks Hondo, cousins of the bride, Burley, each of whom carried a long stemmed yellow rose.

The groom was attired in a candlelight-white tuxedo trimmed with black velvet. Serving as best man was Warren Murata, Ontario. Ushers and candle lighters were Gary Kamo, Vale, and Gaylen Hondo and Jim Hondo, brothers of the bride, Burley. All wore identical tuxedos of dark grey enhanced by mint green shirts and yellow rose boutonniere. Tuxedos were provided by Belle and Beau of Boise.

"Ave Maria" was softly played by Kristie Fife as the bride and groom repeated the vows they had written to each other. Soloist Bruce Bowman accompanying himself on the guitar, sang "Until the 12th of Never." As he sang "And Love May Grow" the couple left the altar and each took a rose from the rose bearers and presented it and a kiss to their mothers in the ceremony's conclusion.

A buffet reception catered by Carl's Catering was hosted by the bride's parents at the Ponderosa Inn immediately following the ceremony. The bride and groom toasted each other with champagne in silver goblets given them by several of the bride's cousins. The cake, made and decorated by Betty Walker of Declo, Idaho, and adorned with fresh flowers by the Flower Pot, was cut and served by Mrs. Tsuyu Miyagishima, aunt of the bride, Riverton, Utah, and Mrs. Margi Sasai, Monterey Park, California, sister of the groom.
