The valley has been shivering this week while it shared the rest of the northwest's cold wave that brought temperatures here down to maximum daytime readings of freezing and below.

J. S. Cooper income tax expert from Ontario gave a talk Wednesday before the noon luncheon of the Commercial Club, speaking upón the federal and state social security law. This law became effective on January 1, 1936 in Oregon, for those who employ four or more persons as far as unemployment insurance phase of the act is concerned. Employers of one or more persons will be affected by the old age benefit section of the law. Tax levies will not become effective until January 1, 1937 on old age benefits.

50 YEARS AGO

The "Charleston" is dying a natural death on the college campus.

Where once the more conservative dancer was in constant danger of having his shins barked by the flying heels of "Charlestoners," he is now able to advance across the dance floor with the comparative safety of old. Buildings no longer rock and sway with the thump of hundreds of feet in perfect beat but rest peacefully on their foundations, as all self-respecting buildings should.

Like other extreme dances, the Charleston has been only a passing fancy to be enjoyed only while its "kick" lasted. The "kick" came in some instances from the fact that it was just a little bit unconservative while in some colleges and universities it came from the fact that authorities banned it, therefore it was something to be done.
