Freezer Meals

Pressed for time? Giving the family a nutritious and tasty meal when time is short is difficult for most homemakers. Cooking ahead, when time is available, and freezing relieves the strain.

One way is to double a favorite recipe...serve one for dinner and freeze the other for another day. It's easiest if you line the dish you'll use to reheat it with foil. Then, when frozen, remove and package. Large batches of ground beef patties, meatballs, and stew size portions...then when you need a quick meal, remove just the number you need and begin cooking immediately.

Remember to wrap and freeze beef dishes immediately to save all those good beef flavors...and store only 2 to 4 months.

BASIC OVEN MEATBALLS

Prepare meatballs and freeze. Then use frozen meatballs as a shortcut in preparing a variety of recipes.

- 3 beaten eggs
- 3/4 cup milk
- 3 cups soft bread crumbs (about 4 1/2 slices)
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 3 lbs. ground beef

Advance preparation:

In large mixing bowl combine beaten eggs, milk, bread crumbs, chopped onion, and salt; add beef and mix well. Shape into 6 dozen 1 inch balls. Place half of the meatballs in 15 1/2 x 10 1/2 x 2 1/2 inch baking pan. Bake at 375 deg. for 25-30 minutes. Remove from pan and cool; repeat with remaining meatballs. Place cooled meatballs on cookie sheet; freeze firm. Using 24 meatballs per package, wrap meatballs in moisture-vapor material. Seal and label. Makes 6 dozen.

Sauerbraten Meatballs

A real timesaver...only 15 minutes cooking time.

- 1 cup pineapple juice
- 1/4 cup water
- 2 beef bouillon cubes
- 1/2 cup coarse gingersnap crumbs
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup raisins
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/2 recipe frozen Basic Oven Meatballs (24)
- Hot cooked rice

In saucepan bring pineapple juice, water, and bouillon cubes to boiling. Add gingersnap crumbs, brown sugar, raisins, and lemon juice; cook and stir to dissolve gingersnaps. Add frozen meatballs. Cover and simmer until meatballs are thawed, 15 to 20 minutes; stir occasionally. Serve over hot rice. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

The Metric System

By Adriana Kunkel

When the schools convert to the metric system, they do not plan to compare the metric system with the English system. But since we are now in the public relations state of change, it might be necessary to give some conversion statistics.

Most adults will like to change their pound weights into kilograms. It takes 2.2 pounds to equal a kg. So if you divide your weight by 2.2 you will have your metric weight. According to this formula, I weigh approximately 64 kgs. That sounds a lot better than 140 pounds.

Now let's compare linear (distance) units. We know the millimeter is about the width of a pencil mark. It takes two and a half centimeters to equal an inch. And the meter is a little longer than a yard. It is 39.4 inches long. If you multiply that by a thousand you have a kilometer. The km is shorter than the mile. It equals six-tenths of a mile. Dividing miles by .6 converts miles into kms. So the 48 miles distance between Nyssa and Boise becomes 80 kms.

Contrary to what the Jan. 25th Grit (page 12) says, the metric unit for volume (the liter) is slightly larger than our quart. One liter (L) equal 1.06 quarts.

Time units are the same in both systems. The units are seconds, minutes, hours, etc.

Let's review our distance units by working with the ruler on this exercise. The cms and mms will be interchanged. Just remember that there are 10 mms in a cm. One-half of a cm can also be written as .5 cm and equals 5 mms.

(1) Label the top of a sheet of paper N, the bottom S, the left side W and the right side E.

(2) 7 cms down from the top on the W side of the page start drawing a continuous line: 3 cms E, 11 cms S, 35 mms E, 5.5 cms N, 5 cms E, 5.5 cms S, 35 mms E, 9.5 cms N, 15 mms E, 15 mms N, 7 mms W, 1 cm S, 9.5 cms W, 5.5 cms N, 25 mms W, 1 cm S, 12 mms E, 8 mms S, 5 cms W, and 25 mms S.
